THREE MINISTERS RESIGN FROM ENGLISH CABINET

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN,
Who Resigned the Colonial Secretaryship.

Chamberlain, Ritchie and Hamilton Retire from Office.

DIVIDED ON TARIFF

Colonial Secretary's Fiscal Proposals Cause Crisis in Government.

FIGHT AGAINST FREE TRADE

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Sept. 17.—Secretary of State for the Colonies Joseph Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer C. T. Ritchie and Secretary for India George Hamilton have resigned from the cabinet. Their resignations have been accepted by the king. They are due to inability to reconcile themselves with the government's position on Chamberlain's new policy of a modified form of protection.

Mr. Chamberlain in his letter of resignation says the question of preferential tariffs favoring the colonies cannot be pressed now successfully, although he is convinced there is a strong feeling in favor of fiscal reform. He declared England had better arrange for a closer union with the colonies by means of preferential tariffs before it is too late. There is an intimation in this that if England declines to adopt the new tariff policy soon she may lose some of her colonies.

Replying to Chamberlain, Balfour admits the scheme is impracticable now, as the people are not ripe for it. Balfour expresses sympathy with Chamberlain, saying under the circumstances he cannot see what else Chamberlain could have done but resign and carry on a campaign of education to teach the country the necessity and practicability of his fiscal policy.

Ritchie Disagrees With Balfour.

Lord Hamilton resigns because he is an adherent of Chamberlain's policy. Chancellor Ritchie resigns because, being a zealous free trader, he cannot agree with Balfour, who is sympathetic with Chamberlain's views and purposes. The resignation of Chamberlain was expected, the others were unexpected and created a sensation tonight in the political clubs and elsewhere. It is said to be apparent from this evening's developments that it will not be long before England adopts a policy of protection to defend herself from the commercial and industrial invasion of the United States and Germany.

Joseph Chamberlain is a Londoner born and bred. He was educated at the University College school, which he left in his 18th year. For him his father put some money into a Birmingham firm of screw makers, later known as the Nettlefields. In 1874, being in his 38th year, in the prime of life and health, he had accumulated a fortune which enabled him to retire from business and devote his entire time to the municipal affairs of Birmingham with which city he has been so closely connected since, and the idol of which city he is. In 1868 he had been elected to the Birmingham town council. He soon became mayor and was twice re-elected. Had he so desired it seemed he might have been permanent mayor.

Chamberlain Attracted Attention.

Being keenly interested in education, he secured election to the school board, and in 1873 became the chairman of that body. It was through Mr. Chamberlain's advice that the slums of the city were wiped out and a boulevard run over the place which they had occupied.

His first attempt to enter parliament, when he tried a fall with a Sheffield idol, John A. Roebuck, was unsuccessful. The force of the speeches which he made during the campaign attracted the attention of John Morley, who invited the candidate to contribute to the Fortnightly Review. Mr. Chamberlain's papers caused a stir. They were daring, uncompromising, combative. They spoke for the thousands who resented what they considered the old fogeyism of Mr. Gladstone and the idolized Manchester school.

Mr. Gladstone's offer to abolish the income tax in 1874 was met by an audacious, cynical and incisive attack which shocked orthodox liberals. The high priest of liebralism was openly accused of trying to perpetrate a fraud on the working classes by offering, in return for their votes, relief from a burden which must in due time be transferred to their backs.

Everybody who was anybody was anxious to know who the young Grummagen person was who dared to dare the lightning. They were shocked when they learned that a nobody, a town councillor, a provincial, one who was born in a part of London where nobody who was anybody ever was born—that such a one had shown such little respect for the name and fame of Adam Smith.

Taken Into Official Arms.

But this nobody, it was found, had invented a political machine which gave him control of Birmingham. In 1876 he entered parliament as a member from Birmingham. He made his maiden speech the next year. He was soon regarded as an uncommon person, a good ruler, but one whom it was impossible to keep in leading strings. But in 1880, when he showed the Liberals how to win the victory for Gladstone, he was taken into the official arms. His reward was a seat in the cabinet with the presidency of the board of trade. Up to 1885 he was the only Radical in a cabinet which held a number of Whigs. In that year, after the election, he was offered the office of first lord of the admiralty, which he declined in order to go back to the board of trade. Unable to agree with Mr. Gladstone on the question of home rule, he resigned, although warned that such a step would mean social ostracism.

But, throwing his strength on the side

AWFUL HAVOC OF THE STORM

Ninety Lives Said to Have Been Lost Through Wrecking of a Craft.

STEAMSHIP WAS LOST

Seventeen Members of Crew Drowned—Survivors Rescued After Awful Experience.

MEAGRE REPORTS RECEIVED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 17.—All day reports have been coming in telling of the havoc wrought by yesterday's fierce storm. It is known that nearly 90 lives were lost along the coast and the the number may run considerably above that number when all the reports are in. Stories of heroic rescues and daring heroism in the effort to save lives come from all points visited by the storm.

Fearful havoc to shipping and loss of life are indicated by the meager reports from the lower Jersey and Delaware coasts.

The way the wind slammed anchored craft about in exposed and landlocked waters was fiercer than the oldest salt in this vicinity can remember. Yacht and shipbuilders will have a busy season ahead, as no less than 500 craft were destroyed or disabled by the storm.

Property loss that will mount into the millions was wrought to shipping on the summer resorts along the Jersey and Long Island coasts. It will be at least four days before a complete list of the missing men and disabled ships can be obtained.

The steamer Mexicano foundered during the gale on Sept. 16 and of a crew of 23 only seven have been saved. The ship which was bound from Philadelphia for Tampico was ladened with crude petroleum. Mountainous waves broke over the ship and the crew in a desperate effort to save the belabored vessel emptied hundreds of gallons of oil upon the lashing sea. Finally a gigantic wave weighing many tons broke upon the ship and crushed in the decks. The crew then jumped overboard. Six of the crew were picked up by the steamer Vidar and another by the Roxby. These men were almost exhausted from their all-night battle with the waves. One of the survivors, August Osterlind, a native of Finland, tells the following story:

"About 4 o'clock on September 15 we encountered a severe hurricane. A heavy sea swept the steamer from stem to stern, carrying away the lifeboats and ventilators, flooding the engine rooms and putting out the fires. The steamer then became unmanageable, and was soon in the trough of the sea. She rolled about for a little over an hour, when she sank stern first.

"The men in the forecastle were called out and told to be ready to save themselves the best way possible when the steamer went down. The boatswain refused to leave his bunk, saying if he had to die he would rather die in his bunk than in the sea. Two firemen refused to leave the steamer, preferring to take a chance on the steamer standing out the storm.

"We were on the bridge with the officers and jumped overboard just as the steamer went down. Just before I jumped two large pistols were shot and I think some of the officers shot themselves preferring that kind of death to drowning. We drifted about for several hours, doing our best to keep together, but when daylight came there were but seven of us together.

"The second mate was about exhausted. He took off his life buoy, handed it to one of the sailors saying good by to us all, and went down. We had about given up hope when we sighted the steamer."

The Mexicano was a tank steamer and carried a crew of 22 men besides Captain King. The survivors aboard the Vidar are: Seamen August Osterlind and Simon Baderea, both of Finland; Firemen Leonidas Korpedes of Greece, and Sappe Poch, of Spain; Seaman Ross Clementine, of Manila, and Juan Fontis, of Spain, a fireman, Domingo Regarberay was saved by the Roxby.

FISHING FLEET REPORTS THE LOSS OF 48 MEN

New York Harbor Strewn With the Wreckage of Over Three Hundred Vessels.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Bringing tales of dire disaster to a fleet of fishing schooners off the Delaware capes in the hurricane of yesterday, some of the schooners that weathered the terrific storm, reached port today, the majority of them badly crippled. According to the mate of the schooner A. M. Baston, which lost her captain, John G. Morgan, and Ned Peterson, a member of the crew, four schooners, on which there was a total of 48 men, foundered during the gale and all probably perished.

The schooners reported as having sunk are the Genevieve Mertes, Lulu B. Fennell, F. B. Miller, and Emily P. Wright. There were 28 schooners in the fleet when the storm struck. Fourteen of these got in today, most of them showing plainly the rough weather they encountered at the Five Fathom banks.

Between Hell Gate and Nortons Point the police boat Patrol today counted 150 wrecked craft. Twelve boats were pounded to pieces on the Staten Island shore. Fifteen yachts were beached at City island, where the successful cup defender Reliance was badly damaged and narrowly escaped scuttling, and the Columbia was saved only by sinking the yacht Hildegarde, which was being swept down upon her.

In Jamaica bay 150 sailing vessels were

MERCHANTS FORM AN ASSOCIATION TO BOOM PITTSBURGH

Eleven Representative Wholesalers Met Yesterday and Decided on Plans for Organization. More Trade to Be Brought Here.

| What Pittsburgh Is and Has. | What Pittsburgh Merchants Need. |
|---|---|
| Greatest commercial field in the world. | Better freight service in and out of Pittsburgh. |
| Center of the nation's wealth and population. | Better passenger service for dealers wanting to come to Pittsburgh to buy goods. |
| Fourth city in size (Greater Pittsburgh) in the country. | Trade excursions to visit merchants. |
| Fifth city in bank clearances in the country. | Special rate excursions to have dealers visit Pittsburgh to buy goods. |
| Larger tonnage than any other city in the world. | Booming of Pittsburgh as a trade center. |
| Population of probably 10,000,000 to whom goods can be sold from here. | Advertisement of the fact that Pittsburgh is the greatest city in the country. |
| Population of 25,000,000 within a day's ride. | Heralding that Pittsburgh is the best place in the country in which to buy goods. |

A Merchants' association was formed in Pittsburgh yesterday to boom the trade of the city in every way. Representatives of 11 of the most important wholesale concerns of the city met in the Monongahela club and discussed the subject and mapped out plans. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday.

Those at yesterday's meeting were: Harry W. Neely of the Pittsburgh Drygoods Company, George Stewart of Stewart Bros., J. S. Wightman of the Thomas Wightman Glass Company, J. R. Pearson of the Commercial Sash and Door Company, Otto Felix of the Pittsburgh Supply Company, Charles Costello of Weaver, Costello & Co., E. J. Lloyd of the Bindley Hardware Company, W. T. Todd of the Somers, Fitler & Todd Company, L. H. Smith of the L. H. Smith Woodenware Company, George A. Kelly of the George A. Kelly Company and Charles F. Briggs of the Hartje Paper Company. Mr. Lloyd was made temporary chairman of the meeting and Mr. Todd was selected for secretary-treasurer.

The opinion of those at the meeting was that Pittsburgh is not being boomed in the way that it should be, and it was decided that the Merchants' association will push Pittsburgh forward in every way. This can be done by a united effort on the part of the business men forming the organization. It was asserted, and persons in every line of business in Pittsburgh will be benefited by the moves it is intended to make.

It was mentioned at the meeting—which all Pittsburghers know—that strangers in this city declare it is the busiest place in the country, with more money in circulation and more evidences of prosperity among all classes than any other place. Of course, the city benefits by the strangers who cannot refrain from expressing their astonishment whenever they get the chance, but it was argued that considerably more would result for the good of the place if the booming is gone about in a methodical way.

Pittsburgh, as a trade center will be boomed by members of the association, and the fact will not be overlooked that it is what the majority of strangers of discernment say it is—the greatest city in the country. Efforts will be made to impress upon the minds of those who purchase goods that Pittsburgh is the best place in the country to buy goods, and they will have facts, figures and all kinds of data to prove their claims. The enthusiasm of the members of the association will be stirred up, and judging by those who met yesterday, the energy that will be expended can only bring results that will be of inestimable value to Pittsburgh and the surrounding territory.

It is the intention to have principally wholesalers and manufacturers in the organization, and as many members as is possible will be secured. There will be a meeting next Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, when more definite plans will be made. A permanent secretary will be elected and permanent quarters will be secured.

"Kansas City has a commercial club containing 2,000 members, New York has its merchants' association, and Cleveland, Buffalo and other cities have similar organizations that do considerable good for the cities that they represent," said E. J. Lloyd after the meeting yesterday. "Pittsburgh has nothing of the kind, but the Merchants' association will fill that want. We talked over what Pittsburgh is and has at the meeting and also what the city needs."

HEARNE'S POLICY CALLS FOR LARGE EXPENDITURES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 17.—The new board of directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company has made good progress in outlining the financial plan through which it is proposed to raise from $11,000,000 to $15,000,000, and at the next meeting of the directors the preliminary plan is expected to be ready for discussion.

Frank J. Hearne, the newly elected president, outlined in detail to the Rockefeller-Gould control his financial wants for the next four years. President Hearne asks for several millions for the completion this year of improvements now under way and $7,500,000 for a new tin plate mill, a tubing plant and a wire mill to cost $2,500,000 each. He wants the mills to be completed within three years. As he has a five-year contract with John D. Rockefeller this will give him time to demonstrate the earning capacity of the improvements he has suggested.

Mr. Rockefeller suggested the length for his term, stating that in the future Colorado Fuel would be operated on a permanent basis and its management henceforth not subject to stock purchased in Wall street.

Just how the money needed is to be raised has not been developed, but there is no doubt about President Hearne being given the financial support he asks for by Mr. Rockefeller. It is his intention to so modernize the plants that the company will be able to supply the needs of its territory independent of business connection with the Steel Corporation. On this point President Hearne said:

"The company will not be antagonistic to the Steel Corporation, but friendly to it, although it will be entirely independent of the corporation."

The company is an immense tonnage producer for the Rockefeller-Gould railroad properties, its freight bills aggregating $1,000,000 per month according to Mr. Hearne's estimate.

OLD TROUBLES DRAGGED OUT

Political Happenings of Hastings' Administration Rehearsed.

WANAMAKER THERE

He Will Not Be Put on Stand in His Defense in Slander Suit Until Today.

GREETS THOMAS ROBINSON

[From a Staff Correspondent.]
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beaver, Pa., Sept. 17.—Considerable attention was given to a rehearsal of the political troubles of the Hastings administration in the Robinson-Wanamaker slander trial today. Maj. Lewis E. Beitler, private secretary to the governor, gave much interesting testimony.

John Wanamaker reached Beaver this morning. He had been delayed and did not reach the court house until almost noon. His attorneys decided not to put him on the stand today, but used their other witnesses. In this way the former postmaster general is given an opportunity to refresh his memory. He will probably be the last man placed on the stand for the defense and his testimony will not be given until late tomorrow morning.

During the day Wanamaker was given an opportunity to come face to face with Robinson at a point near the jury box. The Philadelphian grasped the hand of the plaintiff and though Robinson tried to get away, Wanamaker insisted upon being pleasant.

Quay and Hastings Alienated.

The examination of Robinson was continued by the defense. Charles H. Bergner labored hard to make the former superintendent of printing show that he was incompetent. He also tried to get him to say that Secretary of the Commonwealth Frank Reeder and Deputy Attorney General John P. Elkin were dismissed from office because of improper conduct. Robinson said they were asked to resign because Hastings and Senator M. S. Quay had become politically alienated.

Thomas J. Bell, clerk to Superintendent Robinson, told his story about the "Bird" book. He showed that this supposed innocent bulletin on the "Disease and Enemies of Poultry" had grown to a volume which cost the state $8,000. He did not place the blame on Robinson.

Major Beitler, the present deputy secretary of the commonwealth, who was secretary to Gov. D. H. Hastings, told of the discovery of the "Bird" book in the enlarged form. He characterized the publication as a "job." The major conducted the negotiations to secure the resignation of Superintendent Robinson. He denied today that the aged Butler citizen had been dismissed, but said the governor had asked him to resign because of ill-health. He also declared that Robinson, Reeder and Elkin were not in a conspiracy to defraud the state treasury.

Governor Wrote Curt Notes.

In discussing the resignation of Reeder and Elkin from Hasting's cabinet, the private secretary said that his chief had written "curtly short" letters to both officials requesting them to resign. He said he had no knowledge about the reason for the removal of Elkin, but remarked that Hastings had said that he dismissed Reeder because they disagreed politically.

Another feature of the day was the reading of extracts from the "Bird" book by Judge Gordon. His purpose was to show that the publication had been padded. His auditors thought that he had substantiated his claim. The work is entitled "Diseases and Enemies of Poultry." The reading developed that it contained stories about "Fishing in Florida" and a score of other apparently foreign subjects and included a picture of a steamboat on the Juniata river. Dr. Warren, the author of this remarkable work, says he will be able to justify the use of these articles.

The case opened this morning with Robinson on the stand. Mr. Bergner examined him in an effort to show that as superintendent of state printing the plaintiff was incompetent.

Robinson Could Measure.

"Mr. Busch did not formally present a bill for $57,000 to me for the poultry book," said Mr. Robinson. "Mr. Busch called on me personally, but I did not know the amount of the account.

"I learned how to measure by 'ems.' I said yesterday I could not do it now, but I could when I was in office. I cannot describe the method now. I believe that at one time I could tell how many 'ems' of type there are to an inch. I have forgotten my knowledge of these matters since I went out of office. I seldom measured the amount of composition while I was in office. My clerk did most of this work. I think I knew enough about measurements to tell whether the work was correct. I heard that the 'Bird' book was expensive, but did not know that the correctness of the bill was attacked.

"Colored plates cost more than black ones. I do not know how much a plate of 16 colors would cost. My technical knowledge would not permit me to say whether the colored plates used in the book were properly made.

"I do not know that there was a great deal of criticism in the newspapers about the publication of the poultry book. I have no recollection of what was said about it.

Politics Brought In.

"I do not recall whether my resignation was prior to those of Secretary Frank Reeder and Deputy Attorney General John P. Elkin. I do not know what caused Elkin's resignation. My mind is not clear as to when Col. W. F. Reeder succeeded

TURKS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF AT LEAST 10,000 PERSONS

Town of Kastoria in Macedonia Said to Have Been Destroyed.

PEOPLE ARE KILLED

Report of Tremendous Slaughter Likely to Precipitate Crisis in the Balkan Trouble.

INTERVENTION IS PROPOSED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 17.—The foreign office here has received reliable information that the Turks have destroyed the town of Kastoria, 36 miles south of Monastir, and have massacred the population.

The report of the massacre comes from sources admitting of little doubt, though the details are lacking. It was received with the gravest concern by the officials here. The population of Kastoria numbers about 10,000 persons and the massacre of such a number in one place, if the report be true, exceeds anything which has yet occurred in Macedonia.

At the present critical moment, when popular feeling is intense, the effect of the report of such stupendous slaughter may be most serious.

The press is assuming a bellicose tone. The Dnevnik tonight complains that the government's partial mobilization of three divisions is utterly inadequate and urges the immediate mobilization of the whole Bulgarian army, pointing out that the experience of other nations, France, the United States and Austria, has proved that it is always necessary to display strength when dealing with Turkey.

Government Advised to Act.

The paper advises the government to act now, "at a favorable moment, when the people of Europe are evidencing encouragement of Bulgaria."

The government, while steadily proceeding with the partial mobilization plans, is endeavoring to avoid unnecessarily exciting the people and consequently has resolved not to mobilize any part of the Sofia garrison.

The war office has recalled the Bulgarian officers who were studying in the military schools of Russia, France, Austria and Italy.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—It is announced here that Russia and Austria have made fresh proposals to Great Britain, which if carried out will it is hoped restore order in Macedonia.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—The military occupation of Macedonia by Russia and Austria is thought here to be the only expedient sufficient to prevent war between Turkey and Bulgaria. This suggestion does not originate in Berlin. It reached here some days ago as an inquiry from Vienna to the foreign office as to what Germany thought of the two-power intervention, such intervention to be barely long enough to restore order and reorganize the Turkish constabulary. The inquiry, it was assumed, rested upon a Russian-Austrian agreement. The identical question will probably be put to all signatories of the Berlin treaty.

Germany Is Willing.

The German reply appears to have been conditionally affirmative. Since the territory to be occupied was Turkish, Turkey's consent ought to be secured. Germany, then, would have no objection. But Turkey has not agreed to this, the reason put forward being that Turkey's prestige is engaged, the insurrection having gone too far for Turkey to withdraw. She has been told she must put down the rising promptly and was doing so. It was now nearly stamped out and the Porte felt entirely competent to finish the work and also to defend itself against Bulgarian aggression.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The officials of the foreign office say Italy has approved of the Austro-Russian note regarding intervention in Macedonia and add that France will doubtless make similar representation at Sofia and Constantinople.

The foreign office understands that Russia has signified that any attempt at a popular movement in Bulgaria in support of the Macedonian insurgents will meet with her strongest disapproval.

Sublime Porte Irritated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 17.—The porte has received confirmation of the reports that large bands of Bulgarians and Macedonians, one of them estimated to number 4,000 men, have been preparing to cross the frontier near Kostendil, 43 miles from Sofia. Official circles here have been greatly irritated by the representations made to the porte by the representatives of the powers regarding the excesses committed by Turkish troops. It is pointed out that the powers themselves advised Turkey to suppress the insurrection energetically.

Hail Pasha, formerly vali of Brusa, Asia Minor, has been appointed vali of Beirut. Reshid Bey, who was removed from Beirut as the result of United States Minister Leishman's representations, has been appointed vali at Brusa.

BEIRUT, SYRIA, Sept. 17.—Business is still suspended, notwithstanding the change in the governorship, and it will take a long time to restore confidence. Robberies and murders are the order of the night, if not of the day, and the feeling of insecurity on the part of both European and native residents is very great. Some form of outrage against the foreign and Christian population occurs daily. The Christian refugees in the Lebanon mountains are returning very slowly and in small numbers.

Pittsburgher Buys Hotel.

GROVE CITY, PA., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—R. T. McCready of Pittsburgh, has purchased the Filer block here from Mrs. Rachel Filer for $24,000. It is a large hotel and store building.

BILLET POOL MAKES NO CUT

Steel Corporation Influence Prevents Contemplated Action.

ORDERS ARE BETTER

Representatives of Big Concern See No Warrant in State of Trade for Reducing Prices.

POSSIBLE CHANGE IN POLICY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.

No reduction was made in the price of steel billets at the meeting of the billet pool held in this city today. The price of the associated manufacturers will remain at $27 a ton, owing to the dominant influence of the representatives of the Steel Corporation, who did not see any reason to change the price. The situation was thoroughly canvassed at the meeting and while the independents pointed out that material concessions in the price of Bessemer pig iron were forcing lower prices for steel, still the Steel Corporation representatives believe that they will be able to hold the price of billets. At any rate it was decided to allow the atmosphere of the trade to clarify itself and thereby obtain a clearer view of the tendency of the steel and iron market before any decisive action is taken.

The preponderance of the Steel Corporation's influence at the meeting, it is stated, alone prevented such independent manufacturers as were present from breaking loose and following the tendency of the steel and iron market. It is known that the independent manufacturers were in favor of reducing the price in order to stimulate business, for some concessions in price have already been made. So little percentage of the total billet output, however, is controlled by the independents that for the time being it is understood that there will be no change in prices.

Reports Are Encouraging.

Reports made at the meeting indicated that orders would only serve to disorganize business. Other representatives who are in the steel plate business also stated there was a firmer tendency at minimum pool prices.

It was also learned today that one reason why no cut was made in the price is that the Steel Corporation many modify its policy in regard to selling billets to outside manufacturers. Blooms, ingots and billets are the raw materials from which most of the manufactured steel and iron goods are made. When the smaller manufacturers obtains these he is in a position to compete with such concerns as the National Tube Company, American Sheet Steel and American Tin Plate Company, which are controlled by the Steel Corporation. The point has been made that the Steel Corporation could get nearer to the consumer if he manufactured the raw commodities rather than outsiders. For this reason it was said that some of the larger producers of billets of the Steel Corporation are piling up their billets in their yards.

Mention was also made of the fact that within the last few weeks there have been several importations of billets at lower prices. The Iron Age in its issue today pointed out that a large block of Canadian billets was sold in New England points at a shade under $26 a ton. It is believed that the Steel Corporation managers do not want any reduction in the price, but are content to allow the independents to do as they please. By next month it is thought that the situation will have cleared to allow a better understanding of the course to be pursued.

The Export Business.

In connection with the statement that a company has been organized to conduct an export business for the Steel Corporation it was learned today that after the steel corporation was thoroughly organized, the export department of the American Steel & Wire Company was enlarged to take in other branches of other companies engaged in the export trade. J. J. Farrell, the manager of the American Steel & Wire Company's export business, was selected as the manager of the

COMMITTEE REPORTS ON ELECTION REFORMS

Touches Upon Registration and a Test of the Ecott Election Law.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—The report of the joint committee for the promotion of election reforms in Pennsylvania was made public today. It says in part:

"While the experience of other states does not show that personal registration absolutely prevents illegal voting any more than the best police force absolutely prevents murder or burglary, this experience does show that it prevents it in a perfectly practical and effective manner. It also shows that the industrious men in the community rarely fail to register and that the unregistered are mainly those who today are anxious to keep off the registry list, to avoid jury duty, or those to whom election day is merely a day for playing golf and other games. Personal registration is quite as essential as personal appearance at the polls on election day."

In respect to the recently enacted Ecott election law, the report says: "Legal proceedings will be instituted with a view to determining the constitutionality of the 'scratch' features for straight party voting. If these can be declared unconstitutional, then the ballot act of 1903 will be a distinct advance over the old act, in that as it stands it constitutes practically no improvement and cannot be regarded as a fulfillment of the ballot reform pledge, for ballot reform, as understood in this state and elsewhere, means the establishment of an absolute parity for voters and candidates and a single method for marking the ballots."

CHAMBERSBURG CROWD SAW ROOSEVELT IN RAIN

With Unlaced Shoes the President Appeared on Car Platform.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHAMBERSBURG, PA., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—With shoes unlaced and a rain coat tightly buttoned about his throat, President Roosevelt made a speech from the rear platform of the Olympia here this morning. The special train on the way from New York to Antietam, stopped here for water. Just as it was ready to start the president appeared and waved for silence. A furious rain storm was in progress, and the hundreds of people who had hoped to catch a glimpse of the president held umbrellas.

"Put them down," shouted several.

But said the president, "keep them up, for by you'd see them."

He laughed and said: "As you may see, I have just got out of my bed, and I want to take advantage of the opportunity to greet you and say how very glad I am to see you. Good-by."

Then the train steamed out of town. Chambersburg was the only city made in the Cumberland valley.

overturned, beached or pounded to pieces. From Bayonne comes word of 50 wrecks of all descriptions between Communipaw and Perth Amboy. In Gravesend Bay 31 vessels were wrecked. One of the craft wrecked in Gravesend bay was a Herreshoff boat, the Sand Piper, given by August Belmont to Arthur Redfern, the jockey. The damage along the bay shore is estimated at $250,000.

Out of 40 craft owned by the Brooklyn Yacht club only five survived the storm. A dance was scheduled to take place in the club house last night. It was called off and the club members held a wake instead. The New York Canoe club lost its entire fleet. FRANK A. PARKER.

FIFTEEN MEN DROWNED OFF THE COAST OF MAINE

Went to Their Death While Trying to Escape from Wrecked Sailing Ships.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DAMARISCOTTA, ME., Sept. 17.—Fifteen men lost their lives in the violent gale which raged off the coast during the night. The Gloucester mackerel seining schooner, George F. Edmunds, struck on the eastern side of Pemaquid point and was smashed to pieces. Fourteen of the crew of 16 men perished in the breakers.

The schooner Sadie and Lillian struck on the western side of Pemaquid point and had her bottom knocked out on the rocks. Capt. Hardy was drowned but his crew of two men were rescued.

The Gloucester schooner, which had been fishing off the coast, missed her bearings and running too near the point of Pemaquid struck on the eastern side and was battered to pieces. Successive attempts were made to launch the small boats, but they were washed away. Finally five then were successful in getting a boat afloat and climbed into it, but before they could reach land a treacherous sea overturned the frail craft. Three of the men were drowned but a giant wave caught up the other two and swept them ashore. Of the entire crew of 16 men, these two men were the only survivors.

NO WORD OF TWO BOATS.

Atlantic City Ships With Pleasure Parties Have Been Missing Since Storm.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 17.—Two fishing boats, the Red Dragon and the Alberta, with pleasure parties and crews aboard, are reported missing since yesterday's storm. It is feared they have gone down and much anxiety is felt here. The Red Dragon is a smack captained by J. Clark. She has aboard of her, beside the captain, John Swanson, wife and children, Sinbad Ducasse and John Adams.

They had started out Tuesday for a long fishing cruise and no word has been brought back by other fishing smacks returning of having sighted them. The maritime wires are down along the coast and reports cannot be received as to whether they reached a safe harbor or not. The Alberta has as its captain Mark Casto and carries a crew of 12 Swedes.

TO FORBID AUTO RACES.

Bill Will Be Introduced in Ohio Legislature to Abolish Dangerous Sport.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—A bill will be presented at the next session of the Ohio legislature placing auto racing on the same level with prize fighting and prohibiting auto contests in the state. Several prominent auto enthusiasts have learned that such a bill is being prepared by B. Shanks, manager of the Winton, says:

"I have no doubt that the bill will be passed. I have always said it was dangerous to have our tracks that are not specially built for the sport.

"The introduction of the bill will be a death blow to auto racing in this country until the races are conducted in a different manner. There is little doubt but that if the bill is passed in Ohio similar ones will be presented in other state legislatures and from the opinions I hear expressed they will all be passed."

MORE INDICTMENTS.

Federal Grand Jury's Findings in Postoffice Scandal Kept Secret.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The grand jury today handed down three additional postoffice indictments. Whom they are directed against and what the charges are remains a secret until the sleuths of the postoffice department have time to serve the bench warrants. Though there are three indictments, yet only two persons are involved and they are nonresidents of Washington.

The grand jury will be discharged on October 5 and before it finishes the term one more batch of postoffice indictments is expected. These, it is believed, will wind up the preliminary phase of the department scandal and then the cases will be ready for trial. District Attorney Beach will make an effort to get these cases put forward on the docket, and the Machen charges will likely be the first to be tried.

SOPHOMORIC WISDOM.

Pupils of the Western University Issue a Proclamation to Freshmen.

As the outcome of the battle between the sophomore and freshmen classes of the Western university yesterday, a large handbill, printed in green ink, and presumably the composition of the sophomores, was distributed in the two cities and in the street cars last evening. After the punctuation and spelling had been corrected, it read as follows:

"Freshmen, stop! Read! Heed! Accordingly it is custom, it devolves upon us, the mighty and illustrious class of 1906, to enlighten your infantile and childlike minds upon the following rules, which have been handed down by our predecessors: Rules—Don't wear stiff hats. There is grave danger of permanent injury to soft and immature cranium. Don't congregate around locker room on south end of basement between 12:20 and 12:40 p. m. The shower bath is handy, unused, Pick-a-cosier corner. Don't smoke pipes. They retard the mental growth of children. Don't wear class colors or colored jerseys, or otherwise bring dishonor on our university. Don't use hymn books roughly, it makes mother 'awful' mad. She says you only pay for one-third you get here anyhow. Don't spoon. Don't smile at the co-eds. It will display your baby teeth and the roguish, coquetish dimples in your cheeks. It jars Uncle Dan's nerves, too. Don't assume the use of big words in dispersing the pearls of wisdom that fall from your chiseled lips. Also beware of platitudinous ponderosity in promulgating your esoteric cogitations, or articulating superficial sentimentalities and philosophical psychological observations. Let your conversations possess a clarified conciseness, comprehensibility, coalescent consistency and a concatenated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affectations. Let your extemporaneous descantings and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity, without rodomontade or thrasonical bombast. Sedulously avoid all polysyllable profundity, ampullosity, vesicular verbosity and vanilloquent rapidity."

The freshmen yesterday displayed their class flag from the dome of the old observatory. It was torn down after a fight in which old eggs and stale vegetables were used freely.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER.

Arrest of a Negro on Suspicion of Being the Slayer of Joseph Hueston.

County Detectives George H. Waggoner and John Roach arrested Lewis Jennings, alias "Rags" Bergen, alias Jones, alias French, last night in the rear of No. 212 Grant street and he was committed to the Allegheny county jail by order of Coroner Jesse M. McGeary, charged with the murder of Joseph Hueston at lock No. 3, Osborne station, on August 12, 1901. Jennings denies he was the man who shot Hueston.

It is alleged that Jennings was employed by a gang under Hueston, who was a master mechanic. The men quarreled in a crap game and Hueston was killed. "Rags" Bergen and William French were held responsible by the coroner's jury. The colored man says he has been working at Arden, Washington county, and says he never saw Hueston. He is 35 years old.

An Old Family Reunited.

The descendants of Peter Boll, who settled in what is now Franklin township, Allegheny county, about 150 years ago, held a family reunion at the residence of William Boll, No. 157 Camp avenue, Braddock, yesterday. About 90 members of the family were present. From East Liverpool, Toronto and Conneaut, O., from Butler, Franklin, Erie and other parts of Pennsylvania, came members, while several other states were represented as well. Four generations were present. Miss Lucille Trees is the latest member to be introduced in the family. She is a great-granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Boll of Braddock. At 7 p. m. yesterday a family dinner was served at which all were present.

The FADETTES at the EXPO have swung into instant and overwhelming favor with their exquisitely refined music.

HUSBAND A PRISONER WHILE WIFE WAS DYING

Escorted to Hospital by an Officer to Say Good-By to the Woman.

"Send for Dave and the two babies," feebly asked Mrs. Hersley, an inmate of the McKeesport hospital last night as she was told that the end was near. In a short time her children appeared at the bedside but the father was absent. Unable to pacify the sick woman any longer the hospital authorities told her that David, her husband, had been locked up a few hours before on a charge of drunkenness and neglecting the children.

"I must see him," pleaded the woman, and so critical was her condition that an appeal was made to Mayor Falkenstein. This official gave orders that the prisoner, who was confined at central station, be accompanied by a guard to the hospital, where he might see his wife for a few minutes.

The meeting between husband and wife was sorrowful. The prisoner was deeply affected, and, as he knelt at the side of the white cot, he promised never again to drink and to always care for the babies. The little ones kissed their mother and were led from the ward. David staggered to his feet. His time was up. The sheets were pulled close about the patient and she was left to fight the battle alone.

WEALTHY PORT PERRY CITIZEN DROPPED DEAD

Albert J. Miller, Owner of Much Monongahela Valley Land, Victim of Heart Disease.

Albert J. Miller, one of the wealthiest and best-known residents of the Monongahela valley, dropped dead at his home near Port Perry last evening about 5:45 o'clock. He was subject to heart disease, and Dr. Stewart of Braddock, who was called to attend him, said death was caused by heart disease.

Mr. Miller was the son of one of the pioneers of the valley and was 67 years old. He had lived near Port Perry since he was 2 years old and was a member of the Beulah church of Wilkinsburg. He was a large property owner and possessed valuable land in Braddock, Port Perry, near Wilkinsburg and various other places. He was generally reputed to be worth $1,000,000.

Mr. Miller's wife died about nine years ago and he is survived by two sons, Henry and William, and two daughters. He was a veteran of the civil war. The funeral will take place from his late residence Sunday at 1:30 p. m.

COKE TRADE IMPROVES.

Connellsville Product Is Keeping Pace With the Pig Iron Movement.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The Courier will say tomorrow:

The coke trade of the Connellsville region is featureless. It is following along in the wake of the pig iron trade and is showing some improvement. The demand for coke is keeping pace with the increased consuming capacity. While there is considerable stock in the yards throughout the region, the tonnage piled up is not as heavy as it was during the summer months. An effort will be made to enter into the winter months with no stock coke. Except when there is a famine in cars an unnatural and urgent demand for spot delivery coke is not a source of much profit to the operators. Strictly Connellsville furnace coke is held at about $2 25 and $2 50 a ton at ovens, but in exceptional cases this price is shaded. Main line furnace is selling at $2 and $2 25 a ton at ovens, 72-hour Connellsville furnace is selling at about $3 a ton at ovens and several fair-sized lots have been sold in the past week at this price. Main line foundry coke is selling at about $2 50 a ton at ovens.

The detailed report of the operations and output of the region for the week ending on Saturday, September 12, shows a total of 22,423 ovens, of which 21,107 are active and 1,320 idle. Compared with the lists of the previous week, there are no changes. The total estimated production was 251,225 tons, compared with 251,120 tons the week before.

Shipments last week aggregated 10,516 cars, as follows: Pittsburgh and river points, 5,224; points west of Pittsburgh, 4,854; points east of Connellsville, 1,728. In the lower Connellsville region there are 4,474 ovens, of which 4,468 are active and 906 idle or in course of construction. Shipments were 2,100 cars and estimated tonnage [illegible]

Frost Killed the Melons.

ROCKYFORD, COL., Sept. 15.—A killing frost destroyed the canteloupe crop in the vicinity of Rockyford, last night. The loss may reach $250,000.

"Is it possible?" "Is it possible?" These exclamations of amazement are heard on every hand when tiny HATTIE SCHOLDER plays on a concert grand piano at the EXPO. Dazzling talents like her's come only to one out of a million.

DRANK LAUDANUM IN WIFE'S DEATH CHAIR

Despondent Man Ends Life in Affecting Manner—Morgue Cases Yesterday.

Seating himself in the same chair in which his wife died two years ago, John Moore, aged 53 years, of No. 233 Ella street, drained two ounces of laudanum, expiring shortly afterwards. His wife had died of consumption and shortly afterwards an accident ended the life of his child. Since that time Moore had been despondent and grief over the loss of his family is thought to have prompted the act. Moore formerly worked for the Oil Well Supply Company.

The body of the woman known as Edna Hilliard, who committed suicide by taking carbolic acid in a house in Second avenue on Tuesday night, was identified yesterday by Edward Quinn of Lancaster, O., as that of his sister, Hilda Jeannette Quinn, 21 years old, whose home was at Irvona, Clearfield county, Pa.

Michael Stollnack, a clerk, 26 years old, died yesterday from consumption in the workhouse. He was sentenced last February to serve two years on a charge of forgery.

The bursting of a large flywheel at the Bruce station mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company yesterday caused the instant death of Charles Vane, the engineer. His body was taken to his home at Bruce station.

Julian Corgen, a laborer of McKees Rocks, was killed by being struck by a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad train at Coraopolis yesterday. He was 29 years old and was employed on the tracks.

The death of A. S. Miller of Port Perry was reported to the coroner last night. He dropped dead suddenly about 6 o'clock. He was 65 years old.

Frank Turner, aged 26 years, a brakeman living at Versailles, was killed at that place yesterday by a Baltimore & Ohio train.

Emmett Meehan, 11 years old, was found dead in bed at his home in Wyandotte street, Thirteenth ward, yesterday morning. The cause of his death is not known.

CARTRIDGE WAS IN LOUNGE.

Boy Shot in Peculiar Way—Hurt in Fall from Bridge—Engine Struck Lad.

Peter Getty, aged 14 years, of State street, Wilmerding, was chopping up an old lounge yesterday afternoon when the ax struck a 38-caliber cartridge which was buried in the furniture. The cartridge exploded, striking Getty in the right leg above the knee. A splinter was carried with the cartridge and driven into the flesh. Dr. W. L. Muth removed both. George Tetock and Paul Gieven, Italian laborers, were struck late Wednesday night by a Bessemer freight train at bridge No. 4, above Turtle Creek, and knocked 15 feet to the ground. The engineer saw only one man and the train was stopped and the crew picked up Tetock with his skull fractured. He was sent to his home in Turtle Creek. The second man was found early yesterday morning. His collar bone was broken and he received several injuries about his head.

William McGrew, aged 12 years, was struck by a yard engine at the "pork house" mills, lower Allegheny, yesterday afternoon and one of his ribs was broken.

CLEANING UP SHARPSBURG.

Vaccination Being Strictly Enforced—New Smallpox Cases in Pittsburgh.

The Sharpsburg public schools will open next Monday. They were to have opened on August 31, but were kept closed on account of the smallpox epidemic. The buildings have been cleaned and fumigated, and as there are only seven cases of the disease in town it is deemed safe to open. Fifty residents of "Little Egypt," the negro settlement, were vaccinated last night by Drs. Stanton and Lyons. Another expedition of the same kind will be made soon and vaccination will be forced upon the entire negro and foreign population of the town.

Thirteen cases of smallpox were reported in Pittsburgh yesterday. They were S. W. Jones, No. 7 Park row; Louisa Betz, No. 5 Bigelow street; Paul Lease, rear No. 192 Thirty-seventh street; William Lopez, No. 6322 Liberty avenue; Theodore W. Taylor, No. 13 Chauncey street; Samuel Fletcher, rear No. 8 Francis street; Josephine Lewis, No. 8 Francis street; Mabel Potts, No. 2163 Bedford avenue; George A. Williams, No. 626 Watts street; Thomas Dean, No. 7334 Bennett street; Mary Swartz, corner Main and Irwin streets; Harvey Button, No. 243 Jones avenue, and James E. Smith, No. 2505 Wylie avenue.

THREE MINISTERS QUIT CABINET

of the Conservatives, he formed, with them, the Unionist party, to which Mr. Gladstone owed his defeat. His acceptance of office in coalition ministries, his share in the conduct of the Boer war, his responsibility therefor, his trip to South Africa, belong to the history of today.

Knew When to Keep Quiet.

The shrewdness which he displayed in keeping quiet when the government was antagonizing the entire country with its education bill was in keeping with his character. It is worthy of note that the report recently issued concerning the conduct of the Boer war spares him, and him only.

Since Mr. Chamberlain began to pave the way for the fight over the inter-empire zollverein, it has been evident that he could not carry the cabinet with him. Several of his colleagues were strong free traders; others, like Mr. Balfour, were willing to adopt the attitude of an open mind. But against the cabinet, which was divided against itself, were arrayed the antis. Mr. Chamberlain, one of the cabinet, will not longer have his hands tied, and will be at full liberty to prosecute the fight and to carry it into every corner. It is doubtful if the resignation is a matter on which the free traders will have much room to congratulate themselves.

The fact that Mr. Chamberlain's wife was the daughter of a former secretary of war, Endicott, of Massachusetts, and has been of great assistance to him in his career, gives him a peculiar interest to Americans.

NO GOOD GOVERNMENT IGNORE TARIFF

Joseph Chamberlain Explains His Reasons for Resigning from Cabinet.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The official announcement of the resignations of Mr. Chamberlain and two other members of the cabinet was made late tonight at Downing street. Mr. Chamberlain's letter dated Birmingham, Sept. 9, commencing "My Dear Balfour," sets forth his reasons for his resignation. An extremely interesting feature of the letter is the following statement concerning a preferential tariff:

For the present, at any rate, a preferential agreement with our colonies involving any new duty, however small, on articles of food hitherto untaxed, even if accompanied by a reduction of taxation on other articles of food equally universal in their consumption, would be unacceptable to the majority of the constituencies. However much we may regret the decision, however mistaken we may think it, no good government in a democratic country can ignore it. I feel, therefore, that as an immediate practical policy the question of preference to the colonies cannot be pressed with any hope of success at the present time, although there is a very strong feeling in favor of the other branch of fiscal reform, which would give fuller discretion to the government in negotiating with foreign countries for a free exchange of commodities and which would enable our representatives to retaliate if no concession was made to our just demands.

If, as I believe, you share these views, it seems to me that you will be absolutely justified in adopting them as the policy of your government although it will necessarily involve some change in its constitution. As secretary of the colonies during the last eight years I have been in a special sense the representative of the policy of a closer union, which I firmly believe to be equally necessary in the interests of the colonies and ourselves. I believe it is possible today and may be impossible tomorrow to make arrangements for such a union. I have had unexampled opportunities of watching events and appreciating the feelings of our kinsmen beyond the seas. I stand, therefore, in a different position to any of your colleagues, and I think that I should justly be blamed if I remained in office and thus formally accepted the exclusion from my political program of so important a part thereof.

I think that with absolute loyalty to your government and with no fear of embarrassing it in any way I can best promote the cause I have at heart from the outside, and I cannot hope that in a perfectly independent position my arguments may be received with less prejudice than would attach to those of a party leader. Accordingly I would suggest that you limit the present policy of the government to an assertion of our freedom in the case of all commercial relations with foreign countries and that you should agree to my tendering my resignation of my present office to his majesty and devoting to the work of explaining and popularizing these principles of imperial union which experience has convinced me are essential to our future welfare and prosperity.

Mr. Balfour in a letter to Mr. Chamberlain dated Sept. 16, explains that he did not reply earlier because he knew he would soon have an opportunity of talking over the important issues with which the letter deals. "Therefore, this reply rather embodies the results of our conversations than adds anything new to them." Mr. Balfour continues:

Agreeing as I do with you that the time has come when a change should be made in the fiscal canons by which we bound ourselves in our commercial dealings with other governments, it seems to me radical. Indeed, that you should leave the cabinet at the same time that others of my colleagues are leaving it who disagree on the very point with us both. Yet I cannot but admit that there is some force in your arguments in support of that course, based as they are upon your special and personal relation with that portion of the controversy which deals with colonial preference.

You have done more than any man living or dead to bring home to the citizens of the empire, the commercial and financial obligations and interdependence between the various fragments into which the empire is geographically divided. I believe you to be right in holding that this interdependence should find expression in our commercial as well as in our political and military relations. I believe with you that a closer fiscal union between the mother country and the colonies would benefit the trade of both, and if such closer union should be established on fitting terms its advantages to both parties would increase with years and as the colonies grew in wealth and population.

How can I criticise your determination. The issue to the government is great indeed. But the pain to the cause you have at heart may be greater still. If so what can I do but acquiesce?

NEVADA TOWN ROUTS CHINESE

Several Are Brutally Beaten and Aged Man Dies of Injuries.

EIGHTEEN ARRESTS ARE MADE

Occurrence Reported to State Department at Washington and the Governor of That State Is Asked to Make a Thorough Investigation.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

TONOPAH, NEV., Sept. 17.—A mob of 12 or 15 men invaded Chinatown at this place yesterday afternoon, and at the point of guns compelled a number of Chinamen to leave town at once. Several who did not comply were badly beaten, dragged to the outskirts of the town and told to take the road to Sodaville. Later all but one returned to town and notified the officers. They stated that Ping Ling, a 73-year-old man, and the proprietor of a wash house, was one of the victims, and they believed he had perished on the road. Searching parties were sent out this morning and they found his horribly mutilated body three miles west of town.

The Chinamen were also robbed of several hundred dollars before being run out of town. Eighteen men, mostly cooks and waiters, have been arrested and are now in jail. Among the number is F. H. Arandell, president of a labor union.

A meeting of the citizens of Tonopah was held today, at which 1,000 or more persons were present and a committee was appointed to adopt resolutions denunciatory of the action of the men.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The Chinese minister called at the state department today and laid before Acting Secretary Adee a dispatch from the Chinese consul general at San Francisco, telling of the attack on the Chinese at Tonopah, Nev. Acting Secretary Adee wired the governor of Nevada asking for an immediate investigation and requesting that he afford every protection in his power to the Chinese residents of Tonopah.

READY TO MAKE THE NOMINATIONS

Republicans Arrange for Conventions to Be Held in the Bijou Theater Tuesday.

QUAY COMES HERE TODAY

Federal Officials in Pittsburgh Deny the Senator Sent Out Letters Instructing Them to Keep Out of the County Campaign—Citizens Meet Today.

The Republican county campaign managers met yesterday afternoon at the headquarters in Smithfield street and made arrangements for holding the county conventions next Tuesday. Convention No. 1, for the nomination of prothonotary, jury commissioner and poor director will be held at the Bijou theater at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Convention No. 2, which will nominate the district attorney and sheriff, will be held at the same place at 11 o'clock.

It is not known who will act as chairmen of these conventions, nor who will place the names of the candidates in nomination and who make the seconding speeches. At yesterday's meeting were County Chairman Thomas J. Ford, L. L. Davis, chairman of the Sixth legislative district; Charles A. Muehlbronner, secretary Republican county committee and Banking Commissioner Robert McAfee.

Senator M. S. Quay did not get to Pittsburgh yesterday as expected. Thomas S. Bigelow said he would be here today. The report was in circulation yesterday that the senator had written letters to federal employes in the city instructing them not to take an active part in the campaign this fall. Postmaster George L. Holliday and Assistant United States District Attorney D. M. Miller both said they had received no communications of the kind and had not heard of any employes receiving them.

Mr. Bigelow was asked yesterday if the Citizens platform would advocate free bridges between the two cities. He replied that he had not heard of such a plank and that W. B. Rodgers and Harry Calvert were shaping it. Mr. Bigelow stated he did not know what the platform would advocate this election. The Citizens leader was busy yesterday morning sending for select councilmen. He conferred with a number separately. It is understood the railroad ordinances now before councils were talked over.

Col. James M. Guffey and William J. Brennen returned yesterday morning from Harrisburg, where they had attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Democratic state committee. It was decided at this meeting that instead of the usual town-to-town visitation by the candidates there would be a number of big meetings held throughout the state this campaign, which would be attended by the candidates and prominent spellbinders. The opening of the campaign will take place at Allentown, September 20, when the candidates will be notified of their nomination.

The Citizens campaign committee, of which Mayor William B. Hays is chairman, will hold a meeting at the Third avenue headquarters this morning at 10 o'clock. Special attention will be paid to the country districts, and campaign chairmen will be appointed for the various precincts. Chairman Murray A. Verner yesterday called a meeting of all the Citizens ward chairmen of Pittsburgh for next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

INFORMATIONS MADE AGAINST MILK DEALERS

Seventeen to Have Hearings. Chemicals Are Being Used as Preventives.

Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety has resumed his crusade against the milk dealers. Meat and Milk Inspector Samuel P. Adler has found that milk is adulterated with chemicals used for preserving purposes. City Chemist James R. MacTaggart made a test of the samples submitted by Inspector Adler, and quantities of formaldehyde were found. Inspector Adler made informations against the following seventeen dealers yesterday:

Mary King, No. 5902 Penn avenue.
James Rini, No. 5706 Penn avenue.
M. Ginzer, No. 206 St. Clair street.
H. L. Crotsters, No. 791 Euclid avenue.
W. E. Wright, No. 206 St. Clair street.
J. M. Mardoff, No. 520 Euclid avenue.
B. Casper, Sixth avenue and Grant street.
M. A. Bates, No. 1405 Saran street.
E. N. Hartsborg, No. 1063 Murtland street.
S. Nowsky, No. 3503 Penn avenue.
James McDade, No. 3422 Penn avenue.
V. Horner, No. 4612 Penn avenue.
C. Stasz, No. 432 Pearl street.
Henry Schuler, No. 218 Pearl street.
Mary Cavanaugh, No. 4601 Friendship avenue.
Thomas Thompson, No. 1106 Lincoln avenue.
A. M. Bawn, No. 6892 Penn avenue.

The first nine named will have hearings before Alderman F. M. King, and the eight last before Alderman J. D. Walker.

"These dealers will be arraigned for a hearing Saturday morning," said Director Moore. "We prosecuted over 100 dealers during the summer months, and for a time broke up the practice of adulterating milk. But just as soon as we ceased to be active the dealers started to use preservatives in their milk again. The department will try to stamp out this practice."

KEEPING UP THE CRUSADE.

Three More Women Were Fined for Selling Liquor Illegally.

Order No. 800, which prohibits the sale of liquor in disorderly houses, is still being enforced by the police department. Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety, is determined to enforce this order to the end. The following women were arraigned for a hearing before Police Magistrate T. D. Stewart yesterday morning: Emma Mack, No. 82 Second avenue; Florence Porter, No. 253 Second avenue; Ida Bentley, No. 12 Wylie avenue, and Pearl Rivers, No. 72 First avenue.

The first three women named were fined $100, and Pearl Rivers' case was held for further investigation. This woman denied that she had sold liquor. She said she sold an unfermented wine. The wine will be analyzed by the city chemist.

Plasterers Uphold Stone-Cutters.

The Operative Plasterers' association, at a meeting last night decided that the strike of the Stone Cutters' union was right, and a donation of $25 was voted for their support. It was stated that the plasterers have no grievance with the lathers, but that the lathers objected to the plasterers doing their duty. The plasterers declare they did not lath the opera house while the lathers were on strike. They say no strike was on at the time, and that they tacked on laths to facilitate the work.

RAMSEY URGES DUQUESNE PLAN

President of Wabash Thinks the City Will Be Benefited by New Line.

NOT AN ATTACK ON P. R. R.

Both the Wharf Lines to Connect With the Junction Railroad, and the Allegheny Bridge Will Be Built if the Authorities Allow.

"I believe that the Wabash line along Duquesne way, connecting the main line at Fourth street with the Junction railroad at the Ft. Wayne bridge, will be in itself of far greater value to the city than the present value of the property it will occupy," said President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash railroad, who reached Pittsburgh yesterday morning for a two-day stay here, going over the Wabash plans.

Mr. Ramsey is very hopeful regarding the new line.

"A connection with the Junction road has been among our first plans here," he said. "The bridge to Allegheny and the connections there are also planned, and both will be built if the authorities grant us permission. The absurdity of asking for a 70-foot elevation for the Wabash bridge, when for the other bridges only 47½ feet is asked is apparent to any one. We have offered to build a bridge 53 feet high above the river. The new line will, of course, give an Allegheny connection. It will also tap the industries along the line of the Junction road on the Allegheny river, and these are large and important. So even if the trouble over the bridge had not arisen, the Duquesne way branch would have been asked for."

Mr. Ramsey, when asked about compensation, said simply that he did not believe that it was up to the railroads to pay for the franchise; that the advantage to the city's transportation facilities, the additional taxes to be paid and the other benefits would more than compensate for the line. He made it plain, however, that a fair compensation would, at least, be considered. In any case he will think that all applicants should be treated alike.

He emphasized the point that the Wabash railroad has absolutely no intention of blocking the Pennsylvania or affecting it in any way in this move. The project would have been put forward before, unless the Pennsylvania had started its plan, he said, and when the Pennsylvania railroad began its negotiations, the Wabash waited as long as it reasonably could. The new line is expected to cost about $80,000, outside of the damages to abutting properties that may be claimed and against which the city franchise gives no protection.

During his stay here Mr. Ramsey will go over with J. W. Patterson, president and general manager of the Wabash extension, the work which is to be done on the Greene county railroad. Mr. Ramsey said yesterday that construction on a part of the line will be started within a very few days and that the rest will follow as rapidly as it can be brought into shape.

The work on the Buckhannon & Northern, the line from Fairmont to Bellington, W. Va., has already progressed a great deal. President J. T. Blair of that road was in conference with Mr. Ramsey yesterday. About 25 miles of the grading is completed and about 45 miles of contracts are let and the work under way. This will be a part of the through line from the west and from Pittsburgh to the seaboard at Baltimore.

MAYOR WYMAN ILL.

Stomach Trouble and a Bad Cold Affect Allegheny's Chief Officer.

Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny is seriously ill at his home in McClintock avenue. The mayor has been suffering for some time from indigestion, and on Tuesday afternoon he took to his bed on the advice of his physician. On Wednesday the mayor got up and went to city hall to attend the meeting of select council and returned home before the meeting was over, more ill than he had been.

Mr. Wyman was suffering from a severe cold yesterday, and his family fear it may settle on his lungs. This, combined with his stomach trouble, considerably weakened him, and yesterday he was confined to bed.

Death Interrupted Family Reunion.

When word was carried to the family of Thomas Ballentine that his grandson, Clyde D. Ballentine, 6 years old, had been killed by a traction car in Grant avenue, Millvale, Wednesday evening, the Ballentine family was receiving relatives at their home in North avenue, Millvale. Arrangements had been made to gather the family together for a reunion Wednesday night, but the sudden death of the boy put an end to the festivities.

"Mellor" Stands for Melody

The Steinway's Fame Is Perpetual

The reason the Steinway piano wins more encomiums from lovers of music than any other piano made is because of its perfect, music-giving qualities. Its tonal properties are magnificently pure and sweet. And the beauty of it is that its tone retains its rich, sympathetic qualities under all conditions of age and service.

These superior attributes are responsible for the Steinway's fame. The Steinway not only has kept abreast of the times in piano making, but is today, as in the past, the leader of them all.

New and Decorative Ways to Employ Handkerchiefs.

Trust feminine ingenuity for inventing novelties—this latest and newest of ideas the most practical. Plain and colored handkerchiefs used to make

Baby Caps,
Flounces for Dresses,
Corset Covers,
Hair Receivers,
Aprons,
Kimonos,
Shirt Waist Extenders,
Flounces for Petticoats,
Neckwear,
Handkerchief Caddies,
Combing Jackets,
Pillow Tops,

and any number of pretty feminine conceits.

Beginning this morning we make an exhaustive exhibit of the different uses to which plain white and colored handkerchiefs can be put to, showing the ready-made things. We will be pleased to tell how many handkerchiefs are needed for each particular article—for instance, it takes only half a handkerchief to make a baby cap.

Both Lace Trimmed and Embroidered Handkerchiefs are employed—both plain white and colored—and the handkerchiefs are here in all interesting range of low prices.

An illustrated circular containing many of the articles free for the asking.

New Woolen Waists.

Looks as though we would have some cool weather, and that will bring women to think of wool waists. Among our complete variety are:

Waists of black brilliantine, front tucked all over, 3 clusters of tucks down back, new sleeve, bishop stock, $2.00.
New Flannel waists, plain colors, plain front, wide pleat down center, plain back, $2.00.
Albatross Waists, light blue, white, gray, black—front tucked to form yoke, tucked back, $3.50.
Full line of Fisk, Clark & Flagg Waists—flannel and broadcloth.

Men's and Boys' Fall and Winter Clothes.

Men don't think over their clothes like women do—most of them are apt to forget all about clothes until the time bobs up when they really need them. Suppose you change the order of things and come in and have a look. That is the way women do. We can show you about any grade of suit you would care to wear, from $12.50 up to $38.00. Every garment is cut and fashioned by the cleverest tailors. As to the multiplicity of woolens, we have something to say about them before they are made up into clothes to our order. We are sure of every piece of cloth that enters into one of our suits. We do not think it would help men along to call off the various names of materials, such as cheviot, serge, homespun, etc., for we verily believe that they seldom give a thought to what the cloth is, but they are often quite particular about the color. Taking the colors and the cloths together, we have everything that enters into the making of a first-class suit.

We are not going to disparage custom work—that's all right, if you wish to pay the money. But we want to emphasize as strongly as possible that the clothes we are selling will be as perfect in fit, as stylish in cut, as thorough in workmanship, as any suit of clothes that any custom tailor could give you for double the money.

Friday, September 18, 1903.

On next Tuesday the argument on the American side before the Alaska boundary commission will be begun by David T. Watson, Esq., of this city. We hazard nothing in making the prediction that the commission will then hear an argument logical and perfect, the equal of any that has ever been made in the city of London. Mr. Watson has a marvelous power to digest facts and to present them in their proper sequence, drawing conclusions so plain they cannot be misunderstood. His engagement as counsel for the American side was a stroke of good policy, though Mr. Watson is himself fortunate in having a just cause to maintain.

In the Sixteenth congressional district of Ohio each candidate has 71 delegates instructed, while the remainder, those from Monroe county, are contested. Obviously neither side can seat its delegates from Monroe until it gets one more vote, or they reach a mutual agreement. Under the circumstances they should seek an agreement from the start. One or the other of the candidates can afford to withdraw for the sake of peace and harmony, and that one should be the one who can better afford to wait until another time. If they once go into a fight the contest is apt to become bitter and unpleasant and that would make Mr. Gill sorry he resigned.

News from the Atlantic coast discloses the fact that the storm which has raged northward from Cape Hatteras to Nova Scotia has been one of the worst in recent years. Wrecks are strewn all along the coast and many lives have been lost. More casualties may yet be reported, for the sea does not immediately give up its stories of disaster. In fact, there may be more destruction up on the fishing banks off New Foundland, from whence the news may not come for a day or two. There is yet peril for those who go down to the sea in ships, a peril not realized by tourists who cross the ocean on huge liners and who mostly have acquaintance with a smiling sea. The danger is for those who wrest a hard livelihood from the salt waves.

President Ramsey of the Wabash, while favoring a Duquesne way road under joint operation and ownership, is not as blind to the disadvantages of such an arrangement as some of the joint use advocates who have less practical knowledge of the subject. He admits difficulties where there is not perfect good feeling, and says that is the reason why his company has applied for a separate franchise. The Gazette hopes Mr. Ramsey's road will be granted the right to build an elevated road along Duquesne way, but it objects to any mixing of that project with the Pennsylvania franchise that might result in leaving the Pennsylvania tracks in Liberty avenue. It believes in any event that separate terminals will give better traffic facilities than any joint occupation.

Mayor Hays is not among those who desire to postpone action on the railroad ordinances until after election, so he declares. Well, there is no real good reason for such postponement of the Pennsylvania ordinance, now in the hands of select council committee. As the mayor says, that measure has been very thoroughly discussed and every member of councils knows as much about it now as he will in November. There has been a full and free expression of public sentiment. The ordinance needs some amendment to secure the interest of shippers in the matter of switching and charges, and that is all it does need to make it a good thing for the city. Why not pass it at once and then give the Wabash its franchises upon fair terms, free from any complications with that of the Pennsylvania?

Capt. William L. Sibert, local engineer officer of the government, has filed his reports of the hearings in the cases of the Seventh and Ninth street bridges. The reports closely resemble those pertaining to the Sixth street and Pennsylvania railroad bridges, and it may be presumed Acting Secretary of War Oliver will consider them all together, as they should be considered. If he does so he cannot avoid the conclusion that the traffic over the bridges is vastly more important than the traffic under them. Neither can he miss the fact that raising the bridges will affect the traffic upon them more disastrously than leaving them where they are will affect the traffic on the river. The towing trade can pass under the bridges with modern steamboats; the packet trade is a mere matter of imagination and speculation.

Bulgaria is freshly agitated by the reported massacre of the entire population of Kastoria, numbering 10,000 souls. Though it is realized and admitted that this report is probably exaggerated, it affords a text for the Sofia press to urge immediate action by the Bulgarian government, and the argument is having an effect upon the people. The Sofia papers no longer talk about intervention by the powers. They simply declare there is no hope for the Macedonians, except the intervention of Bulgaria, and as the people are in sympathy with the papers the pressure upon the government is well nigh irresistible. Turkey is apparently preparing to meet an onslaught from Bulgaria by mobilizing its entire army, and the outlook is for a bathing of the Balkans in blood such as they have not seen for many a day. War there is extermination and no quarter.

English Cabinet Crisis.

Premier A. J. Balfour's pamphlet on the tariff question has brought things in the British cabinet to a head with a rush. The resignations of Joseph Chamberlain, secretary for the colonies; C. T. Ritchie, chancellor of the exchequer, and George Hamilton, secretary for India, were tendered yesterday and accepted by King Edward.

The division in the cabinet began some months ago when Mr. Ritchie, in submitting the budget, recommended the repeal of the duty on flour. Mr. Chamberlain set up in opposition his idea of a tariff that would enable the United Kingdom to give preferential treatment to the colonies. Mr. Balfour cleverly avoided a crisis at the moment by making one of the most remarkable "straddles" in English political history. Since then the question has been argued in parliament, through the press and upon the streets with great vigor. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, former chancellor of the exchequer, gave the discussion a piquant flavor by attacking Chamberlain upon every possible occasion, taking the free trade side from a point of professed pure Cobdenism.

Mr. Balfour apparently did not desire a crisis during the session of parliament, preferring that the discussion of the Irish land bill should not be complicated with any other great issue. That bill passed, parliament adjourned and then the premier proceeded to develop his ideas with the result of submitting his pamphlet in connection with the cabinet meeting on Monday last. Mr. Ritchie is affronted because Mr. Balfour does not support his repeal of the flour tax, but proposes a system of protection. Mr. Chamberlain resigns because the premier ignores his scheme of preferential rates and declares the United Kingdom needs protection for itself. Lord Hamilton is not offended by rejection of any policy specifically proposed by him, but he sympathizes with Mr. Chamberlain's idea and so retires also. He has been mixed up in the fierce criticisms of the India control for favoring American locomotives for the railroads of India, or for permitting contracts to go to America simply because the price was lower and the delivery more prompt than for British machines.

Undoubtedly there will be an appeal to the electorate and Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour will be given opportunity to argue their case before the people and test public sentiment. There are persons who insist that Balfour and Chamberlain have a thorough understanding, but the resignation of the latter does not indicate harmony. Mr. Balfour's espousal of protection—though he avows himself a theoretical free trader—is so different from the far-fetched imperial federation of Mr. Chamberlain that they can hardly stand on the same platform. We expect to see in England strong support of Mr. Balfour and the protection principle, though it may not win a popular victory. There is a wide gulf there between the manufacturer and man of affairs and the man in the street. In this country advanced economic policies are adopted quite as readily by mechanics and laborers as by men in business, but it is not so in England, so that while the men of affairs favor protection the populace still clings to the old fetish of free trade. The contest, whatever the event, is of much interest to Americans.

The American Workman.

The British blue book, just issued, is illuminating as to the greater average prosperity of the United States as compared with Europe. The percentage of family incomes (on the basis of 100 per cent for Great Britain) is 123 per cent for the United States against 83 per cent for France and 69 per cent for Germany, and the mean weekly rate of wages in the United States is as 179 per cent to 100 per cent in Great Britain. As to whether the British workman gets more for his money and is thus compensated for lower wages, the publication is inconclusive, quoting from the contradictory statements of the members of the Mosely commission, but not accepting this evidence as of much account. It may be said, therefore, that if the British workman has any advantage of lower prices over American workmen it cannot be in the matter of food, quality for quality. Great Britain is dependent on this and other countries for much of its food supply, and even competition for markets for the surplus of American products cannot give the English workman a material advantage in prices over the American workman.

One thing that may be read between the lines of the statements of earnings is that fewer members of the American wage earner's family than of the British family are employed in gainful occupations, for whereas the average earnings of the American wage earner are as 173 to 100 as compared with the wages of the British workman, the income of the American family is reduced to the proportion of 123 to 100. This would seem to prove that the head of the American family, because of his high earning power, is not only able to be more indulgent and less exacting with the members of his family, but actually is so. His earnings afford greater ease, leisure and enjoyment to his wife and children.

American workmen are shown by these British statistics to be the most prosperous on earth. The most progressive and prosperous nations of the old world—Great Britain, France and Germany—with practically all members of the workman's family employed when employment can be had, fall far below the conditions attained in this country, standing as regards family income in the relation to England of 123 to 100, to France of 123 to 83 and to Germany of 123 to 69. And if the comparison is made with individual earnings instead of family income the showing is vastly more favorable to the American workman. These if set forth by a Republican during a political campaign would be scouted by our Democratic brethren as false and misleading. But they are not American figures at all, but the sober and scientifically ascertained facts collected for the British board of trade, which would be glad not to be able to thus exalt a competing nation, and which sought in its inquiries only to learn the actual trade and industrial conditions of the United Kingdom as compared with other countries. There being no political campaign of moment in progress in the United States at this time American workmen will be able to contemplate the exhibit without partisan bias, and they ought to take good account of it, remembering that no such showing could have been made in the period immediately preceding the election of McKinley in 1896.

Protection Vindicated.

Mr. Balfour's contention that Great Britain is placed at a disadvantage in all markets in competition with countries which give protection to their industries may be considered to have been sustained by the tabulation of British imports and exports made by the board of trade. It is shown in the tables presented that British imports exceed British exports by something like $800,000,000 per year. As to how Great Britain pays that balance appears in a statement of earnings of foreign investments and of English shipping, which practically offset the adverse balance against the nation in commercial transactions. The British merchant fleet engaged in foreign trade is said to earn $450,000,000 a year, and foreign investments, it is computed, earn $312,000,000. It is to be remembered that these figures are no mere guess, but are as accurate as it is possible to make them. The income from foreign investments is as easily ascertained as the income from foreign shipping, the British income tax system laying open to official inspection all sources of revenue in a manner not possible in this country. It therefore appears that an offset for more than three-fifths of the trade balance against Great Britain is the income of capital which was accumulated before the tide of trade ran so strongly outward. Therefore, the British empire is shown to be living upon the enterprise and prosperity of the past, rather than upon the enterprise and prosperity of the present, and unless the tide turns will be more dependent thereon in the future. The United States, on the contrary, is living on the earnings of the present and piling up capital for the future. It appears from the British trade statistics that American investments in England are inconsequential by comparison, and they are less in other non-American countries. American capital is employed at home for the most part, and foreign capital employed here assuredly much more than offsets American capital employed abroad. Thus for the building up of American prosperity we have our own capital and more.

It is interesting to note that the one industry to which Great Britain gives protection is relied on now to offset the adverse trade balance. It is the particular field of enterprise which the United States neglects. British merchant vessels employed in the foreign carrying trade earn a profit of $450,000,000 a year. If the United States would protect its shipping half as well as it protects its industries there would be a different tale to tell of the prosperity of the American shipping interests.

On the whole the facts presented by the tabulations of the British board of trade prove the wisdom of the American policy of protecting the home markets and of the British policy of protecting the shipping trade, and the United States ought to learn therefrom not merely the propriety of continuing to foster American industries, but the advisability of extending a fostering care to the ocean carrying trade, which is the weak spot in our national armor.

For Pittsburgh Trade.

A commendable effort is being made to organize a merchants' association to look after the trade of Pittsburgh. This city has attained an enviable position in the manufacturing and financial world and there is no reason why it should not go to the front in the mercantile world as well. To put it there is the object of the new movement in which a number of the leading business men are interested.

About 10 years ago Philadelphia organized an association of merchants on lines similar to those proposed here. The organization has been of great advantage to that city. It has secured city and state legislation; obtained favorable passenger and freight rates and attracted the attention of the trading public in and out of the state. Under its influence Philadelphia has come out of the lethargic state in which it had fallen and is bidding strongly for first place in wholesale trade.

To some extent the merchants' association will impinge upon the field occupied by the chamber of commerce. There is, however, no occasion for conflict between them. They can accomplish much by working in harmony. The chamber should be stimulated to more useful activity by the entrance into the field of this new organization, which will always be ready to back the chamber's best efforts to secure the welfare of the community, and the new association may rely upon the chamber of commerce for assistance in an emergency, or in cases where their work runs parallel. Pittsburgh trade is worthy of attention.

An ingenious inventor has produced a fire-escape that can be used as an elevator. As there are more elevator accidents than casualties at fires, an elevator escape would be the real thing.

While the alum water gang rallies for a last, desperate effort, they are shouting to keep their courage up. But Pittsburgh would be almost as well satisfied with typhoid as with alum water.

Hotel managers are talking of organizing for mutual protection. The traveling public would probably think the average hotel keeper is well able to take care of himself.

The bird book which was to cost $400 and finally came to $67,000 is not the only instance where the ante has been raised and the people have had to pay it.

A Chicago man says he has seen worse storms than the one at Atlantic City. Everybody knows that for air, hot or cold, Chicago can't be beat.

Mayor Hays "has not heard of any intention to hold up the railroad ordinance." Somebody should provide the mayor with an ear trumpet.

That Sixteenth Ohio deadlock is one of the tightest on record. All because an Ohio office-holder defied all precedents and resigned.

It will be an awful shock to our Democratic friends to see a "tariff reform" campaign on in free trade England.

There is good news that Sir Thomas will not have to leave his vermiform appendix as well as his pinnacle.

Mayor Hays appears to be wobbling uncertainly between switching rights and joint use of tracks.

President Ramsey of the Wabash is not against anybody and wants everybody to be for his road.

Atlantic City was not hit as hard as some other places, but the hotel keepers yell loudest.

Straw hats were called without the intervention of the stock exchanges.

Mr. Chamberlain will now have a chance to fight for his principles.

"Have a frost with me," said the tomato to the late cabbage.

Next Tuesday London will begin to hear a real argument.

Possibly the Turks were crying for Kastoria, so they took it.

Wall street is in the dumps again—dumping everything.

Bulgaria is spoiling for a fight, so peace advice is wasted.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Paul Laurence Dunbar, the colored poet, has quite recovered from his recent illness.

The countess of Limerick, the recognized beauty of Ireland, who is equally popular in Dublin and London, has arranged to appear in the latter city next winter in a series of piano recitals.

Lichfield, in Staffordshire, England, the birthplace of Dr. Samuel Johnson, will commemorate the anniversary on September 18 in a fitting way, with a procession, memorial exercises and a formal public dinner.

Dr. Freshfield, who died suddenly at Homburg the other day, was one of the best-known and most respected of London solicitors. He belonged to "the old school" of lawyers, as became the head of a firm which has acted almost from time immemorial as solicitors to the Bank of England. He was intimately associated with many prominent ecclesiastics, by whom his judgment was highly esteemed.

Demand for Skilled Help.

The demand upon technical schools for skilled help in mines, in railroads, in laboratories, and in industrial pursuits requiring special knowledge brings to public notice the opportunities opening up for young men today. Very few men having a specialty are idle in these times. It is the man who knows nothing in particular and is ready to do most anything who complains of low wages and lack of chances. Mr. Pulitzer's plan to establish a school of journalism is in keeping with the tendency of the age, because newspaper work is technical in its mechanical departments.

The field for special education is wide and more money is needed to develop the industrial arts. While Mr. Carnegie is building library monuments at the various country cross roads, and Mr. Rockefeller is adding to the scope of Chicago university as an institution for general education, why does not some philanthropist direct his bounty into technical channels? Money made in commercial pursuits could find no more appropriate field.—New York Commercial.

Not So in Pittsburgh.

Edward Everett Hale says the result of our public school education with the average boy is to instill in him a gross overestimate of his own importance. The city gives him his text books, paper to write upon and ink to write with. The system increases the boy's self conceit, largely because of the determination of the public to provide for him, and in proportion as a boy or girl gets into that frame of mind in that proportion is duty as a central light lost sight of.

Managers of big enterprises seek more and more for young men who have a keen sense of duty, who will say to themselves, "The success of this enterprise is my concern," or "The purity of this thing is my business," or "The success of the republican government is my business. What can I do to further it?"—New York American.

Track Elevation.

Track elevation permits of at least 100 per cent greater speed of trains and enables the roads to haul greater freight train loads; materially reduces the expenses of the legal department, does away with suits for damages aggregating many thousands of dollars yearly, eliminates the expense of maintaining grade crossings and increases the safety of train operations. Eliminate the greatest of all considerations, the saving of human life and limb, and it would still seem that track elevation is as essential to the economic operation of railroads as is the reduction of grades, the doing away with curves and the construction of better roadbeds.—Chicago Record-Herald.

MY COUNTRY.

My country is the world: I count
No son of man my foe,
Whether the warm life-currents mount
And mantle brows like snow,
Or red or yellow, brown or black
The face that into mine looks back.

My native land is Mother Earth,
And all men are my kin,
Whether of rude or gentle birth,
However steeped in sin.
Or rich or poor, or great or small,
I count them brothers, one and all.

My flag is the star-spangled sky,
Woven without a seam,
Where dawn and sunset colors lie,
Fair as an angel's dream,
The flag that still, unstained, untorn,
Floats over all of mortal born.

My party is all human-kind,
My platform, brotherhood;
I count all men of honest mind
Who work for human good,
And for the hope that gleams afar,
My comrades in this holy war.

My heroes are the great and good
Of every age and clime,
Too often mocked, misunderstood,
And murdered in their time,
But spite of ignorance and hate
Known and exalted soon or late.

My country is the world: I scorn
No lesser love than mine,
But calmly wait that happy morn
Where all shall own this sign,
And love of country, as of clan,
Shall yield to world-wide love of man.
—Robert Whittaker, in San Francisco Star.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Epimenides was sent by his father into the field to look for a sheep, turned out of the road at midday and lay down in a certain cave and fell asleep, and slept there 57 years; and after that, when awoke, he went on looking for the sheep, thinking that he had been taking a short nap. —Diogenes.

Now, where is Rip Van Winkle?

You can't beat the ancients when it comes to downwright bigness in anything.

But if it be true that history repeats itself, and that there is nothing new under the sun, may we not yet see things as big as these ancient seers?

And why not make a big show?

Diogenes had to keep up the reputation of his bailiwick, for these were philosophers, jesters and orators in adjoining bailiwicks who were anxious to down him. And sometimes it taxed the old seer's wits to the limit to keep even with his competitors.

You mind one time when he was hard pressed for something new and shining, he lights a candle at noonday and went up and down the streets of Athens as if searching for something. When asked what he sought he said he was looking for a man. This made a hit, a palpable hit, which knocked the other fellows out—out of their jobs, may be, for the powers that were couldn't tolerate beats like that.

We may never know how much these old-timers are to be praised, or to be blamed, for what we are today.

As you know, man is a great imitator. In fact, what he is in manner and form is mainly an imitation of others. He may not be a conscious, or intentional imitator, but he is an imitator first, last and all the time.

Let a man come along who is original in his ways and manners, and he at once becomes a target for all eyes, as well as for all tongues. He is voted a crank, a freak, a queer one, if not a lunatic.

Suppose a lady were to appear on the street in crinoline such as was regarded the height of style along about the time of the war; or wearing a bustle such as was in vogue only a few years ago, and what would the people think? It is what they would say that would jar you hardest.

One day, through the primeval wood,
A calf walked home as good calves should!

But made a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail, as all calves do.

Since then two hundred years have fled,
And, I infer, the calf is dead.

But still he left behind his trail,
And thereby hangs my mortal tale.

The trail was taken up next day
By a lone dog that passed that way,

And then a wise bell-wether sheep
Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep,

And drew the flock behind him, too,
As good bell-wethers always do.

And from that day, o'er hill and glade,
Through those old woods a path was made.

And many men wound in and out,
And dodged and turned and bent about,

And uttered words of righteous wrath,
Because 'twas such a crooked path.

And still they followed, do not laugh,
The first migrations of that calf.

This first path became a lane,
That bent and turned and turned again.

This crooked lane became a road,
Where many a poor horse with his load

Toiled on beneath the burning sun,
And traveled some three miles in one.

And thus a century and a half
They trod the first steps of that calf.

The years passed on in swiftness fleet,
The road became a village street.

And this before men were aware
A city's crowded thoroughfare.

And men two centuries and a half
Trod in the footsteps of that calf.

And o'er this crooked journey went
The traffic of a continent.

Most all of our great highways were built along Indian trails, and the latter in turn followed animal trails.

The roadbeds of considerable parts of the Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio follow buffalo trails. The section of the latter between Grafton and Parkersburg is built along a buffalo trail throughout almost every rod of its extent.

A reason therefor is not hard to find. Each has followed the line of least resistance.

You may have noticed that in the hill country the old roads almost invariably followed the spine, or ridge of the hill from bottom to top, regardless of steep finishes or rough places.

This was because the roads followed Indian trails, and it was the habit of Indians to keep on the highest ground, and in position to see both sides of the hill, which would lead him to follow along the backbone instead of following the benches along the hill side.

Hunters and trappers followed these same trails, as did early settlers, there being no other roads through the country. These were cut out and widened from time to time to accommodate ox teams, wagons and other vehicles.

Singular as it may seem, it was many long years before the people began to see the folly of pulling over such steep roads when by following along the hill sides they could have practically level roads.

If an intelligent, enterprising, civilized people would meekly follow the trail of the savage so long, and at such great loss and inconvenience, what might they not do?

In other words, what may we do, or what may we not be doing, that is no more rational than following Indian trails that lead over courses most difficult to travel?

* * * * *

This is a great country, and we are a great people, and our weather is simply phenomenal.

And yet there have been countries as great as ours, considering the times in which they flourished, and no doubt there has been weather that beat our best, or our worst. Could we but hear the old resident in the time of Diogenes tell of the weather he had experienced, or heard of, it would as greatly excel ours as the story of Epimenidos excels that of Rip Van Winkle as to the length of their naps.

There is no harm in imitating the good in others. In fact, it is the most practical, as well as the more practicable way to learn, for in imitating we must necessarily exercise our faculties, our muscles and our talents generally, which is the important part in acquiring a practical education.

We may justly be proud of our country, and all it contains, but we should not forget there have been others, and that we have appropriated the knowledge they had accumulated, so that about all we have to boast of is what we have added to this wonderful store, and the extent to which we have rendered it more practical and useful.

The Encore Nuisance.

Now that the fall season of indoor entertainment has begun and the theaters are reopening their doors, a suggestion to managers, which we are sure will voice a well-defined and growing public sentiment, is timely and useful. It is that a judicious restraint be placed upon the extremely bad habit of New York audiences to demand the repetition ad nauseam of anything which pleases the fancy of a few noisy cliques, by permitting such repetitions until everybody is thoroughly weary of the incident and heartily glad when it is over. Actors and actresses take very kindly to encores, and it needs very little applause to induce those who are hovering expectantly in the wings to reappear as often as an excuse for so doing can be found. No doubt it gratifies their vanity to have such evident appreciation of their work expressed by the galleries, but the audience has some rights which even the singers of topical songs are bound to respect, and one of these is that even a pleasing number shall not be repeated until it becomes wearisome and disgusting.—New York Times.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Primeval savagery runs riot on the east side of the Bowery. That is the opinion of one of the city magistrates, who declared this morning that conditions in some parts of the east side of Manhattan are worse than in a new western mining town. He seemed to be concerned over the possibility of a man being shot to death in a free fight with no one held for the murder. It was thought at first that "Monk" Eastman was the murderer. But "Monk" proved an alibi, or something that cleared him, and as the man killed was only one of the Cherry Hill gang, it is not likely that we shall hear any more about the affair. Meanwhile the Cherry Hillers go on shooting at each other and if their bullets fly wild now and then why strangers must keep out of their way. What the public would like to know is why are these ruffians permitted to go on their way in a law abiding community. It is in vain to tell the average citizen that the police cannot do anything because magistrates always discharge prisoners brought before them unless there is a clear case against them. The public does not understand these tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee differences. They would like the gangs of thugs on the East Side to be cleaned out and cannot see any particular reason why they should not be all put in prison. But criminal law is a peculiar thing, especially as it is applied by the police and magistrates of this city, and the general supposition is that the Cherry Hill and Five Points gangs will continue their shooting and stabbing until they happen to kill a respectable citizen when they may be brought up with a round turn. Meanwhile decent people are afraid to cross the Bowery eastward after dark.

Successful in New Field.

So successful has the one woman ambulance surgeon in Manhattan proved herself that it is likely there will be others. It does not seem to be the most cheerful occupation for a refined woman, but it cannot be denied that Miss Emily Dunning, the one specimen we have, is making a wonderful record for gentleness and efficiency combined.

Windy Day in Manhattan.

Although the hurricane of yesterday blew itself out in half an hour or so there have been many vagrant winds sweeping and swirling about Manhattan today. The Flatiron seems to have caught a few miniature cyclones yesterday, which it has delighted in setting free erratically today. The policeman on that corner, a sturdy giant of Broadway squad build, has had his hands full all day and many a helpless woman scudding sideways before the wind has been taken safely into harbor on one side or the other. The "nose" of the Flatiron, with both eyes, in the shape of plate glass show windows, knocked out, has seemed to curl in derision of the puny efforts of foot passengers to maintain their equilibrium or dignity in going by. The backbone of the storm is thought to be over and tomorrow may be a fine day.

House of Cards Collapses.

Another flathouse collapse has shocked New York. This time it was a new building under construction at Rutgers and Madison streets, in the Ghetto. What the extent of the injuries of those hurt may be is not yet known, but there seems to be no question that the house was of flimsy construction and that wooden beams were used where there should have been steel girders. When a five-story building collapses like a house of cards it is evident there is something radically wrong. "Budseiker" was sentenced to a heavy punishment for putting up just such a building as that which fell today. Who is the "Budseiger" in the present instance?

Walsh Must Make Amends.

Police Capt. Walsh, who was for a considerable time in charge of the Tenderloin precinct, ran against one of the rules of the department today when his application for retirement was refused because he is under suspension charged with violating a rule. Walsh is a well-known policeman with a good record, but he made a slip lately that will keep him on the force longer than he desires. He was away from the police station 15 minutes one night when he was supposed to be there and an inspector dropped in at that unlucky time. The chief interest in Walsh's case to the public is that it shows that a pretty close watch is kept on all policemen just now.

A Threat of Death.

There must be something awesome in being threatened by the "Black Hand." It is an Italian organization, this "Mana Neva," and when it tells a man through anonymous letter that he must pay $10,000 or be killed within a month the additional threat that his house will be dynamited seems to be of small import. Fortunately, the Brooklyn contractor, Cappinello, who got the letter, and who has already paid $1,000 of the demanded $10,000, has a daughter whose sweetheart, an Americanized Italian named Maresco, who defied the organization. He has caused the arrest of five Italians said to belong to it and there will be a test of the "Mana Neva" against American law. Still, Cappinello is so uneasy that he is half afraid to appear against the prisoners. He remembers that a certain Italian was found dead in a barrel a few months go because he would not be ruled by the Mafia. The "Black Hand" is about the same thing under another name.

Jerome's Voice Unheeded.

It begins to look as if the attack of the district attorney on Seth Low would not interfere particularly with arrangements for the fusion ticket. It will be Low for mayor, Grout for comptroller, and Fornes for president of the borough of Manhattan. It seems as if every one concerned is conciliatory to every one else, so that all the ill temper fomented by Jerome will evaporate. It is just as well, if the ticket is to be pushed through to success, for Tammany is watching closely for any chance that may offer for getting in and sending the whole fusion cause astray.

Time for Action.

If Bulgaria and Servia would threaten less of what they are likely to do to Turkey, and get into action, they would get more attention from the rest of the world.—Indianapolis Journal.

Pennsylvania's Story.

The story of Pennsylvania, as published in the October Pearson's, is a nut-shell historical and biographical sketch of the state and her notable men and women. Opening with a brief but impressive statement that Pennsylvania is great, not alone for its industrial and agricultural products, the article reviews the political importance of the state in the past and present, and continues as follows:

Following the discovery of Delaware bay by Henry Hudson in 1609, the Dutch and Swedes established small settlements in the territory afterward granted to Penn; and they ruled alternately until the English title was confirmed by treaty with Holland in 1674. Seven years afterward, William Penn obtained his grant of land west of the Delaware, in settlement of a claim derived from his father, Admiral Penn, for £16,000 (about $80,000). The king named the province Pennsylvania—Penn's Wood—and its formal history dates from that time.

Penn had his attention drawn to America by his service as trustee for Edward Byllinge, who bought West Jersey from Lord Berkeley and Sir George Carteret. He purposed to make Pennsylvania a refuge and asylum for friends. Within the limitations of a proprietorship subject to the king, he projected a real democracy in which there should be absolute freedom of conscience and religion. The constitution he drafted was more liberal than any previously promulgated. It attracted to the colony high-minded dissenters of various sects, and ultimately outnumbered the Friends, and misused the freedom granted them to persecute the founders of the colony. The Quaker experiment in government lasted until 1756; the influence of the Friends endured for a much longer time.

Sturdy settlers had been attracted, by their liberal principles, in such large numbers that Pennsylvania soon became the leading colony in point of population; and as it remained for many years free from Indian wars, it was also the most prosperous. Nearly all the immigrants were earnest, God-fearing men, some of them well educated and well-to-do; so that the young colony was rich in quality as well as strong in numbers. Nearly all branches of the Protestant religion were represented. The Friends settled mainly in Philadelphia or its immediate neighborhood. The Germans, equally peaceable and on good terms with the Indians, moved westward to the agricultural district, and occupied also the Schuylkill and Lehigh valleys; while the more aggressive Scotch-Irish pushed onward to the Susquehanna and Cumberland valleys and became the pioneer outposts. They opposed Quaker rule mainly because they believed in fighting the Indians; but they were strong religionists in their own way, intelligent and well educated. It is said of them that they became the schoolmasters of the state.

Although the assembly was controlled by Friends, they could not really govern as they wished because of the veto power possessed by the governor, who represented the proprietor, and because of the further restraints laid upon them by the crown. The three agencies of government were frequently at a deadlock. Within their own narrowing circle, the Friends governed well; outside of it, they scarcely governed at all. At length, the Friends were obliged to abandon either their principles or their offices. They chose the latter course. Many members of the assembly resigned or refused re-election. Their places were filled by members of other denominations, who voted supplies with which the grave Indian war that had arisen was brought to an end.

A few years later the American revolution drew the colonies together in a confederation; the history of each was thenceforward that of the nation. As the central state, Pennsylvania became the "keystone of the arch," and was for a time, the seat of the national government.

Taking up the notable people who were a power in their time, and reviewing the revolutionary days, the story goes on to speak of the state's development. Many statistics and facts are furnished which serve to illustrate the state's importance, and fittingly concludes with the following paragraph:

The nation's workshop now, as then, Pennsylvania stands for thoroughness of craftsmanship; for whole reliability in trade; for ever-broadening industrial opportunity; and for constantly extending scope of utilization. And those things stand for wonders within its homes—for prosperity; for a constant, common confidence; and for a happiness that comes to those peoples alone whose lives are founded upon wise, sound purposes, and whose ambitions seek unflaggingly the fulfillment of high emprise through their devotion to homely duties and toils.

The Right of Appeal.

Mr. Justice Brewer's suggestion that the right of appeal be abolished in criminal cases has aroused the protest of members of the bar throughout the country, as well as of the public in general. It has, nevertheless, says the New Yokr Evening Post, performed an excellent service in calling attention sharply to the evils of undue delays in the execution of criminal judgments, caused by merely dilatory appeals. This subject is discussed in an article in a current number of the New York Law Journal, especially in its relation to outbreaks of mob violence. Two excellent reforms are suggested in this article: First, that by every legitimate means the possibility of delaying the execution of criminal judgments by means of frivolous appeals, be curtailed; and, second, that the special favoritism toward criminal defendants, traditional in American procedure, be discontinued. The writer cites a number of cases in which the court of appeals of this state has exhibited an inclination to further both of these ends. Power to override mere technical exceptions, and to sustain a verdict clearly based on sufficient evidence, though legal errors of an immaterial nature occurred at the trial, is granted in the code of civil procedure, and in a recent case, people vs. Conklin, the court of appeals, in a unanimous decision, administered the policy of that statute against the defendant.

Popocratic Arguments.

Popocratic critics of the administration are now trying to find fault with the new department of commerce because "it provides places for 10,145 henchmen of the party in power." They are careful to omit the fact that more than ninety-nine one-hundredths of the government employes subject to the new department were simply transferred from other departments, and that in point of fact the aggregate number of employes in those departments has been reduced rather than increased by virtue of the consolidation. A little discrepancy like this, however, cuts no figure with political color blind carpers bound to manufacture political capital with or without a foundation of fact.—Omaha Bee.

A Correction in a Name.

One thing on which The Gazette prides itself is its accuracy in all things. Occasionally, however, something will happen which isn't right, despite the greatest care. This was so in the issue of yesterday, in the item relating to the monument to be erected in Allegheny to the memory of Col. James Anderson. The type made it Andrews, much to the regret of The Gazette as well as many friends of the founder of the first public library in Allegheny.

BROWN REFUSES TO PAY THE BILL

Allegheny Controller Declares the Purchase of Poles in Chicago Was Illegal.

CITY IS LIKELY TO BE SUED

No Bids Were Asked and the Contract Was Not Approved by Councils—City Solicitor Says He Recommended the Action, Although It Was Against Law.

Controller James Brown, of Allegheny refuses to pay $2,038 75 to the Valentine-Clark Company of Chicago. The bill, which was approved by Director E. J. McIlvain, is for 150 cedar poles to be used in stringing wires from the city light plant to the new pumping station.

Controller Brown's refusal to pay the bill is based upon the fact that bids were not asked for nor was the contract approved by councils, as required by law.

"I will not pay this bill," said Controller Brown yesterday. "The entire transaction is illegal, and it is up to those responsible for it to settle with the firm with whom the deal was made. I have no doubt the city will be sued, but until the courts order it I shall not pay the bill."

The ordinance authorizing the payment of the bills was considered at the finance committee meeting last Thursday night, and Chairman Charles F. Kirschler immediately protested against a favorable report to councils. City Solicitor Stephen G. Porter was present and took the responsibility of the transaction upon himself.

"I advised the purchase of the lumber from the Chicago firm," Mr. Porter said, "because my common sense showed me it was best. We needed the poles at once and the lumber merchants of Allegheny have formed a combine to charge the city extortionate prices for all lumber. I know the deal is in violation of the law, but under the circumstances I deemed it best to advise Director McIlvain to proceed as he did."

Joseph H. May, president of one of the largest lumber firms on the North Side, last night disclaimed any knowledge of a combine. Another dealer declared he had heard nothing of it. He was questioned concerning the prices of poles and said the city could have bought the same kind of timber in Allegheny at a much cheaper rate than that paid the Chicago firm.

"A pole 30 feet long, 22 inches at the butt, and 8 inches at the top, is sold in Allegheny for $7," he said. "The price of 150 such poles, you see, would amount to $1,050. Of course the freight from Chicago amounts to a considerable sum, but deducting even that, I am certain the poles cost more in Chicago than they would have in Allegheny."

Chairman Kirschler withdrew his objection to the favorable report to councils of the ordinance authorizing the payment of the money, he says, because he was assured that Controller Brown would refuse payment on the bills. The majority of the members of councils knew nothing of the deal, and those that did evidently took the same view held by Mr. Kirschler, as no comment was made on the ordinance last night in councils and it passed.

COURT-MARTIAL WILL TAKE PLACE ON MONDAY

Decision in Case of Arsenal Soldier Who Shot William Crowley.

The soldier of the Allegheny arsenal who shot William H. Crowley near the arsenal on September 10, will be tried by court martial Monday at the arsenal. This was the decision reached yesterday by Capt. Grote Hutcheson, who was detailed here to make an investigation of the case by Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, commanding the department of the east. Gen. Chaffee has sustained the recommendation of Capt. Hutcheson. After the military authorities dispose of the case it is likely the soldier will be turned over to the United States courts for trial. Capt. Hutcheson yesterday said, after an interview with United States District Attorney James S. Young:

"For the purpose of making the usual and customary legal inquiry into the acts of the soldier, to determine after considering testimony bearing on the facts, whether he, under his obligation and oath as a soldier, was justified from a military viewpoint only in going to the extent he did in the use of his rifle, the matter will be inquired into by a general court-martial."

Capt. Hutcheson left the city at 10 o'clock last night for Governor's Island, N. Y. He said he would hardly return for the court-martial proceedings, and stated that it is the purpose of Gen. Chaffee to dispose of the case at once. Capt. Hutcheson said the court-martial would be made of 5 to 13 officers. In this case he thought it would be a full court-martial of 13 officers, who will be appointed by Gen. Chaffee from officers under his command. Lieutenant R. W. Drury has been asked to defend the soldier during the trial. The prosecution will be carried on by the judge-advocate.

Capt. Hutcheson said there is no doubt that Crowley had robbed the arsenal, both of copper sheeting and money. When Crowley was shot the bullet penetrated two $1 bills he had in his pocket. These bills had been marked and were left in the barracks. They disappeared and when Crowley's clothing was searched they were found in his pockets.

ORPHANS AT ST. PAUL'S PROVE BEST OF HOSTS

Delightful Entertainment Given at the Idlewood Home in Recognition of Success of the Picnic at Calhoun Park.

In the sky the night stars glittered.
On the fields the moonlight shone;
Came their friends to see the orphans,
In their quiet country home.

The above was chorused by about 200 childish voices from the stage of the big auditorium of St. Paul's Orphan asylum at Idlewood last evening, welcoming an audience of close upon 2,000 men and women, who were invited guests of the children. The occasion was a recognition by the children of the kindly interest which rendered the Orphans' picnic at Calhoun park such a success, and everyone who aided in this was asked to be present. The records of the street car company showed over 1,000 had come from Pittsburgh alone, while hundreds of others can from other nearer sections.

By way of entertainment a program of notable merit was rendered by the children and was hugely enjoyed by their guests. Following the entertainment proper a collation was served, and dancing and euchre occupied the guests till midnight. From start to finish the affair was successful and reflects much credit upon the Rev. Father Michael Lynch, in charge of the orphanage, and the Sisters of Mercy who prepared the children for the celebration.

The program opened with the chorus of greeting from which the stanza quoted above is taken. Lucy Hughes then recited "The First Party" and was followed by another chorus in "Auld Lang Syne." Cyril Callahan recited "A Leap for Life" and was followed by the especial hit of the evening, a class of infant boys who sang a motion song called "Rosebuds," and they were called to respond to two encores. The last was "Good Night, Ladies," and was ended with the line "Run Along to Our Beds," which they thereupon proceeded to do.

Lucy Hughes gave a song and recitation, "Our Only Sure Refuge." Fred Orcut recited "A Music Stool." "Listen to the Mocking Bird" was sung by the chorus, and a number of little girls gave another motion song, "The Minuet." "Playing School" was recited by Bessie Dunlap. Some of the older girls gave a song with tambourine accompaniment and dancing, called "The Gypsy Camp." John Korolich recited "The Voice of the Wind." "Erin is My Home," sang the chorus and Ola Brown recited well a long and difficult piece, "Brian Rose." The chorus, "Flag of the Free," followed, and the recitation and hymn "The Tapestry Weavers," by Nina Rourke closed the first part of the program.

The Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, coadjutor bishop of the diocese, made a short address of congratulation on the good work accomplished and of thanks for the ready and generous assistance given by the people of the community. He ended by saying "In a word, I thank you for your kindness to the orphans." The chorus sang "Farewell" and the children went to bed, all except a few who remained to assist at the luncheon and amusements which ended the evening.

PE-RU-NA FOR THE DISEASES OF WOMEN.

The Remarkable Case of Mrs. Nannie Hall, of Atlanta.

A Most Wonderful Cure Effected by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. NANNIE HALL, 12 Hubbert St., Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I write you to tell you how much good your Peruna has done for me. I was so sick and nervous that I was almost dead.

"I could not eat nor sleep nor work any at all, but was in bed nearly all the time, and was almost a skeleton. I was so poor. Now I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me, and I can sleep all night long and get up and work all day long. I don't have any nervousness now, but am happy all the day long. I sing the praises of Peruna wherever I go, and I believe it saved my life. I could not have lived through the summer in the condition I was in, as I was in the Change of Life. I had tried many doctors, but they did me no good. Peruna certainly cured me of the after-effects of the Change of Life. I was almost crazy, had headache, backache, and was so nervous that I would almost go into fits. I could not eat nor sleep and was almost in my grave. I had tried many doctors, but they did me no good. I tried your Peruna, and I felt better from the start. I took about five bottles of Peruna, and the awful headache and nervousness was gone. I could eat anything, and my nerves are all right, and I have no more backache. I am well, and Peruna cured me.

"My daughter is cured of catarrh of the head. She was almost deaf before taking your Peruna. She don't look like the same woman. She is stout and well and the mother of three fine boys. I want to thank you again for your kindness."—Mrs. Nannie Hall.

Anyone desiring information touching the use of Peruna at this time of life can write to Dr. Hartman with the assurance that her letter will be held strictly confidential. All advice will be given free of charge.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

a smart suit

Can be bought for less money today than ever in the history of the business.

The practical part—the production of the garment—is down to a mathematically exact system.

So much for each piece or part, so that the manufacturer knows before he turns a hand, just what the finished article will cost.

Every manufacturing tailor employs a designer.
There's where trouble begins or success is achieved.
It's all up to the designer.
The cost of production may be no more for one style than another when made of the same material.
One may be a rank failure, the other a phenomenal success.
Much of a store's success depends upon getting control of these "successful" styles.
Models that have some characteristic that shows advancement.
Some little feature often indicates distinct fashionable excellence.

Store people must have the power to distinguish them.
This store gets credit for extreme discrimination in this regard.
It's a wonderfully successful Suit Store.
Its success is not all due to selection, however.
What it sells it sells moderately—as to price.
A big business on a small profit basis.
Few suit stores are willing to work that way.
Too often the argument is, "if you've got a good thing, get a good price for it."
We believe the small profit way pays best.
Just now we're showing a rare collection of Long Coat Suits—long and short skirts—$15.00 to $75.00.

The feature of today's announcement, and the cause of today's elaborate argument are three lines at $18.50, $28.50 and $35.00, respectively, which we believe will clearly emphasize and corroborate the foregoing statement to the great satisfaction of those women who take sufficient interest to investigate.

We urge critical investigation and comparison of the Long Coat Suits at $28.50.

First that you may see and recognize a model of surpassing excellence.

Then that you may be convinced of the store's earnestness.

tan coats

Large variety from $10.00 to $42.50, but there's a couple of styles at $15.00—so remarkable we want the fact known, as we're sure of winning the favorable consideration of every woman who has a stylish tan coat to buy.

Will you look at them?

wrappers

Eight different prices on good flannelette wrappers, 85c to $8.50
—money's worth at any of the eight worth coming for—we know this, because women who know values tell us so.

Excellent values at $1.00—and pretty wrappers that look well when put on—reds, blues, blacks and grays—made full from the neck—or fancy yoke—self ruffled—fitted linings—9 and 12 inch flounces—pouch sleeves.

Print Wrappers, 75c to $2.25.

Cashmere Wrappers, $5.00 to $18.50—French or Domestic goods—special strong line at $5.00—women tell us our showing beats any they ever saw hereabouts for assortment, quality and money's-worth.

Silk Wrappers, $12.50 to $25.00.

la vida corsets

—do you know them?

We'll be glad to show you the various models and explain their points.

They're not cheap Corsets, as Corsets go—$2.50 to $7.50—but they have the merit to win and hold many very particular women.

HEALTH BUREAU IS VINDICATED

Director Moore and Other Officials Declare All Larkin's Charges Are Disproved.

HEARINGS ARE ABOUT OVER

Investigating Committee Is Bound to Make Report Adverse to the Controller—Every Allegation Made Has Been Proved Groundless.

Director Harry Moore and other public safety officials declare that the health bureau has been completely vindicated in the investigation made by the councilmanic committee appointed at the request of Controller John B. Larkin, and also that the controller's charges have been proven utterly groundless by the evidence submitted to the committee. The investigation has been thorough and at all points has shown that there was no foundation for the allegations of the controller that "rottenness and corruption" existed in the health bureau.

The testimony of Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow on Tuesday night when he cleared away one of the chief charges made by his superior officer marked the climax of the investigation. Another meeting will be held next week, probably on Tuesday night, and additional testimony will be received, but it will simply be confirmatory of what preceded.

At the meeting of the committee last week, which the controller attended just before his departure from the city, he made the declaration that he had proved three main charges against the bureau, viz: That fraud had been attempted in the purchase of postage stamps for the bureau; that employes of the bureau had done disinfecting outside of the city during the time for which they were paid by the city, and that the city had been defrauded by the purchase of 4-year-old whisky for the Municipal hospital, while it had paid for the 8-year-old article.

Morrow Disproved One Charge.

The first charge was completely disproved by the controller's chief assistant, Mr. Morrow, who claimed that the purchase of the stamps was perfectly regular and that there had not been an attempt at fraud or intent to commit fraud. The charge in regard to disinfection was equally disproved by the testimony of every witness. The employes who were accused of disinfecting outside houses during the city's time showed conclusively by their statements and by the records that not more than three or four jobs of this kind had been done and that in every instance the work had been done after 5 o'clock in the evening, when their day's work for the city was ended; also that they had used their own apparatus and materials, and, moreover, the city instead of being the loser was in their debt for overtime for nine months when they put in more than 16 hours a day for the city and received pay for but eight hours.

As to the whisky charge it has been shown by the testimony of Director Moore and his subordinates that only one barrel of 4-year-old whisky was furnished for 8-year-old whisky and that one barrel has not yet been paid for and probably never will be.

Besides proving that the charges of the controller were without any foundation, the committee has shown that the controller himself was to blame for three or four months' delay in the erection of the new municipal hospital by his refusal at first to countersign the contract, and as a result of this refusal the hospital has been overcrowded, with patients all this year, which in addition increased the danger from the larger number of patients that could not be received at the hospital and had to be treated at home.

New Evidence Promised.

Some other facts in relation to the responsibility of persons outside of the health bureau for the present condition of affairs in relation to the smallpox epidemic will be brought out at the next meeting of the committee which will not be favorable to the controller's case.

Director Moore said yesterday that a law ought to be enacted to prevent physicians attending smallpox cases from following the example of Dr. R. L. Taylor, who testified at the meeting of the committee Tuesday night that he never changed his clothes after visiting a patient.

NEW CONCERN INSURES CONDUCTORS' HONESTY

Street Railway Indemnity Co. Will Have Detectives in Pittsburgh.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Street Railway Indemnity Company, which was recently organized, will issue policies to street railways insuring them against conductors "knocking down" fares. The new company will have a force of skilled detectives who will go from town to town watching the conductors. They will work in the guise of passengers, of motormen and in other capacities and will at times work as conductors themselves.

By moving from place to place they will keep their identities a secret. The company will have its main offices in New York, with a branch at Pittsburgh, from which operations at other points will be directed also. This is necessary because the company will not allow an operator to go to the offices of the company or communicate therewith except by mail or wire in order to better keep secret the personnel of its force.

New Catholic Congregation.

There will be a meeting of the German Catholics of Arlington Heights, at the Lane school house, Twenty-seventh ward, head of Twenty-second street incline plane, next Sunday at 2 p. m., for the purpose of starting a new congregation, the bishop having given his consent.

INTRUDER HELD PRISONER BY TWO YOUNG WOMEN

Used Their Revolvers to Prevent Escape of Alleged Horse Thief.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Sept. 17.—With Bravery that is seldom ever heard of outside of fiction, two young women, Misses Eva and Mattie Wilson, daughters of Sedrick Wilson, residing on a farm one mile east of Connellsville, last night captured and held at the point of a revolver an alleged horse thief, while a neighbor, Painter Crossland, hurried to Connellsville on horseback after their brother, Charles Wilson, who is constable.

The young women are school teachers and were alone at the farm house, when they noticed someone lighting matches in the barn. They called Mr. Crossland, and the three well-armed, opened the barn door. They found a stranger inside with the stall bars down, and ready, it appeared, to ride away on one of the horses. The stranger surrendered, and was marched off at the point of a revolver by the girls, to the house and kept there while Mr. Crossland saddled a horse and came to town.

Officer Wilson appeared on the scene and brought the intruder to town. He gave his name as Hiram McConnell, and his home as Harrisburg. He had a satchel full of razors and other hardware. He was committed to jail for court today by Justice Frank Miller.

EXPECTED TO SURVIVE A BROKEN BACK

CANAL DOVER O., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Arturo Finamonti, an Italian coal miner, was caught under a fall of slate at Joyce, south of here, this morning and his back was broken. Dr. J. Douthitt reduced the fracture and the man is expected to recover.

MARVELOUS PIANIST.

Little Hattie Scholder Captures the Audiences at the New Exposition.

There is no extravagance in the statement that never before in Pittsburgh have piano performances been heard so sensational as those now being given at New Exposition music hall by little Hattie Scholder of New York. Last night she performed with amazing bravura and finish Carreno's warhorse, "March Militaire," by Schubert-Tausig, and the Kermesse from "Faust," by Saint-Saens. Her conceptions are those of the piano giants, while her technique is so near perfect that difficulties apparently do not exist for her. As she remains only two days longer, music lovers must make haste to hear her. Tonight she plays Wagner's "Magic Fire" scene and Chopin's waltz in A flat.

Of the work of the Fadettes orchestra yesterday one may well indulge in prodigal praise. The exposition management again emphasizes the fact that the Fadettes, as now playing under its direction, is a distinct organization, formed of a membership of half a hundred players, soloist for the present engagement, which even thus early is swinging into overwhelming favor. This afternoon's program follows:

2 P. M.

BANK CLERKS' MEETING.

Large Pittsburgh Delegation Left for the Convention at Cleveland.

The first annual convention of the American Institute of Bank Clerks takes place in Cleveland today and tomorrow. Clerks from all parts of the country will be in attendance. The Pittsburgh delegation left last night at midnight over the Pennsylvania railroad on a special Pullman car. The delegates from Baltimore and Washington arrived at 11:45 and their special cars were attached to the same train as the Pittsburgh representatives.

Boilermakers' Queer Troubles.

The trouble between the boilermakers and the manufacturers will be settled as soon as arrangements can be made with the locals in Buffalo. Some Pittsburgh manufacturers are doing work in Buffalo, and because the Buffalo boilermakers are on strike, they secured Pittsburgh men, whose scale was signed, to do the work. This raised a contention and a committee was sent from Buffalo to have the local boilermakers keep away from the Bison City. However, the manufacturers still secured men. This is said to be violating their agreement.

DRUNKENNESS CHARGED AGAINST CHILD WIFE

Half-Breed Indian Husband Then Swears That His Accusation Was False.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 17.—A document was sworn to today before Alderman Williams by Josiyn Kenjockety, a half-breed Indian, who a month ago married pretty 16-year-old Maud Snyder of West Middlesex. Kenjockety recently told Mayor Jackson that his wife drank so much he could not live with her. They met less than a month ago and were married after one week's acquaintance. Kenjockety suddenly left home a few days later, but was arrested here for desertion and non-support. After being placed in jail he was willing to satisfy his wife's demands, when she insisted on his retracting his statement that she was a heavy drinker. Kenjockety was forgiven by his bride after he signed and swore to the following:

I, Joslyn Kenjockety of New Castle, Pa., do hereby declare that my wife, Maud Kenjockety, nee Maud Snyder of West Middlesex, Pa., is not addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors and that all statements to the contrary by me at any time heretofore made are hereby retracted and declared to be untrue, and that such domestic troubles as have existed between us have been occasioned wholly by my actions. I also declare that my wife has always conducted herself in a proper manner.

BRUSH CREEK VALLEY IS AGAIN FLOODED

High Water Reappears Before Debris of Former Disaster Is Cleared Away.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 17.—J. L. Kennedy, secretary of the Penn relief fund, has been notified by the state board of health that no appropriation will be allowed in the Brush creek to clear away the debris caused by the flood of July 5. Although it is over three months since Penn was devastated, there are still evidences of the disaster all along the valley. The bed of Brush creek is still filled with refuse.

Last night's heavy rains caused the stream to overflow and a portion of the town was flooded. Coal street was under water and all traffic on the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Greensburg electric railway was stopped.

Mr. Kennedy was in Greensburg this morning in consultation with State Senator Cyrus E. Woods, who promised to use his influence toward an appropriation for the flood-swept valley. The rains also caused Jack run to overflow its banks and 50 homes in East Greensburg were flooded.

ANTIETAM ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED AT ALTOONA

MR. AND MRS. ARNOLD ON WITNESS STAND

Couple Accused of Infanticide Deny Charges in Court at Uniontown.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Sept. 17.—Interest in the alleged child murder case becomes more intense each day. Arnold was on the stand nearly three hours today. He denied all the allegations of Dr. W. M. Lilly. He said that Dr. Lilly left medicine for his wife, and that he (Arnold) remained at her side all night. Early in the evening he noticed the baby did not move, made no noise, and looked as if it might be dead. He did not mention the appearance of the baby to Mrs. Arnold, fearing it would make her worse. At 2 a. m. he again looked at the baby, and found its body cold, and then said, "Effie, I believe the child is dead." Mrs. Arnold was restless and he remained with her until 5 a. m., and soon afterward he and his wife dressed the baby who was dead.

Arnold suggested that they bury it in the garden, but the wife said the garden would probably be plowed up. They decided they would not have a funeral, and it was finally determined to bury the child in the orchard.

"I then proceeded with the burial. I took the little one in my arms, and it was a terrible ordeal. I made four or five attempts to leave the room with the little one, but each time I was prevented by my wife, who clung to the baby sobbing, and said she could not bear to have it taken away. She was much affected. I finally left the room with the baby and went downstairs, where I placed it in a fruit jar box and nailed it up. I went to the orchard and dug the grave. I covered the box with dirt and placed three boards over the grave; also pulled up some weeds and laid on the grave, to keep the chickens from scratching there."

Arnold said that neither his wife nor himself did anything tending to kill the child.

Mrs. Arnold was placed on the stand. Her testimony, however, consumed only about 20 minutes. She said she was in such pain that she hardly knew what was going on. She said Dr. Lilly gave her no instructions as to the care of the child or herself. When asked if she wanted the child, she said she did, and that she did nothing whatever to endanger its life. Her testimony was much like that of her husband. She was not cross-examined.

OLD TROUBLES DRAGGED OUT

Elkin. I recall having referred the Ray bill to Reeder. It is my impression that Elkin and Reeder resigned because there was a little alienation between Gov. Hastings and Senator Quay. By no means do I recall anything about an indemnity bond. Hastings never mentioned it to me."

J. Rankin Martin offered in evidence the printing act of 1876. He said that the purpose was to show the duties of the superintendent of printing, and that by Robinson disregarding this law many unauthorized jobs were allowed to go through his office. Leo McQuiston tried to have it ruled out on the ground of incompetency. Rankin wanted to know whether it was necessary to reply to the objection of the plaintiff's attorney. Judge Wilson said not.

Thomas J. Bell, chief clerk to the superintendent of public printing, said that he was clerk to Mr. Robinson. He identified the small bulletin on the diseases of poultry. It was printed by Stanley Ray.

Bergner offered the joint resolution of 1897 authorizing the re-printing of the poultry pamphlet and allowing the authors to put in additional matter. It is this pamphlet which grew into the handsomely bound volume which is now generally known as the new "Bird" book.

Tells of the Bird Book.

Bell said the first pamphlet was limited to 5,000, but he did not know how many were printed. Bergner next submitted the "Bird" book. Bell said it was supposed to be a reproduction of the smaller pamphlet. "It was printed," said Bell, "as per resolution. The printing was done in the state printing office and the lithographing was done elsewhere. The order for the work was issued by Robinson. He issued the order on the request of Pearson and Warren. It seems to me the original bulletin accompanied the order. I did not know about the extended form of the book until there was a demand for more plate paper. It was telephoned for by Senior, superintendent for Busch. Robinson told me to make inquiry. This was in February, 1898. This was our first knowledge of the matter. The order for the work was dated April 6, 1897.

"There were about two carloads of paper used in the book, and the material cost $8,000 or $10,000. I cannot recall the cost of binding. It was originally bound in paper. It was not expensive. I think it was about $1,500 for the lot. The other binding cost about $2 a volume. The departments had to have them re-bound at the above cost. The book was ready for delivery after Robinson went out of office. The printing cost $50,000 or $57,000. This would make a total cost of $67,000 or $68,000."

Robinson Did Not Approve.

On cross-examination by McQuiston, Bell said Robinson did not approve the bill. He also said that his successor, Thomas M. Jones, refused to pay the bill. Bell said that Robinson gave the order for the $2 binding.

Julian W. Hutchison of Harrisburg, who was connected with the state printing office under Busch, was examined by Bergner on technical questions connected with the work of the smaller bulletin and the larger reprint. He described the kind of type used in the publication and told how many "ems" there were to a page. He explained that in the original book a plate had to be printed once and the same picture in the larger book required 16 impressions to get in all the colors.

Hutchinson said in his examination that the "Bird" book was printed under his direction. Robinson never gave any orders in regard to the colors.

Bergner read the deposition of Col. Thomas J. Edge, who was secretary of the department of agriculture when the "Bird" book was printed. It showed that Edge did not give an order for the publication. He said that the legislature had taken it out of his hands.

Maj. Lewis E. Beitler, secretary to Gov. D. H. Hastings, and at present deputy secretary of the commonwealth, was examined by Judge Gordon. "I first learned of the 'Bird' book," said he, "in February or March, 1898. The governor was absent.

Edge Was Perturbed.

"Col. Edge came into my office in the morning rather perturbed and handed me a resolution of the legislature relative to the requirements of the bulletin. He showed me the original bulletin. He said he had been telephoned about the printing and that he knew nothing about it. He suggested that I look into it. Pearson was in Philadelphia and he was directed to come to Harrisburg at once. I told Robinson to bring me everything in connection with the 'Bird' book. That afternoon Bell brought the loose sheets of Warren's end. When Pearson came he brought his portion. He said that he had not made the index. I issued an order to Robinson to stop all work. It is my recollection that it was a verbal order. I notified the resident clerks of the house and senate to refuse to receive any copies of the book. I thought that it was a 'job' and wanted to hold it up until the governor returned. I ordered Pearson not to furnish the copy for the index. I then communicated with the governor, who was in the far west.

"Robinson told me that he was printing the book under two authorities, the legislative resolution and the order of the authors, Warren and Pearson. My recollection is that Robinson said he had no knowledge of the details of the book. He said the copy for the enlarged edition had gone around him.

"Gov. Hastings came home in March. I met him at Altoona and told him what I had done. He agreed with what I had done. The attorney general was with him and we all went over it.

Robinson Asked to Resign.

"When Hastings reached Harrisburg he sent for Robinson and Bell. Robinson was ill, but Bell appeared. After their meeting the governor determined, in view of the condition of affairs in the printing department and of Robinson's illness, to ask for Robinson's resignation. He said a charge should be made. I communicated this to Robinson's son. Mr. Robinson was critically ill. The son said he would talk with his father at an opportune moment. In the meantime the trouble over the book had became public. The young man requested that the resignation be delayed because of public criticism. Later I wrote a letter to the son requesting the resignation because of ill health. Finally the resignation was tendered in April, to take effect May 1, and was accepted. The resignation was in the hands of Hastings by the middle of April.

"When I discovered the publication of the book I gave the information to the press. The story was given extensive circulation.

"Gov. Hastings appointed Frank Reeder secretary of the commonwealth. He was removed in August, 1897. Shortly afterward Deputy Attorney General John P. Elkin was asked by Attorney General H. C. McCormick to resign. Gov. Hastings publicly stated that Reeder was requested to resign because he disagreed with him politically."

Gordon endeavored to show that both men were dismissed because of their connection with the indemnity bond given by Elkin, Reeder and others in 1897 to indemnify State Treasurer B. J. Haywood in the payment of the salaries of additional legislative employes. McQuiston objected to any testimony on this question, as it had no bearing on the case.

Elkin and Reeder Resignations.

"I am familiar with the resignation of Elkin," said Beitler. "I remember that he made a defense of his official acts. I believe that he referred to an indemnity bond. The governor had removed Reeder in August. Later Attorney General McCormick removed Elkin. He requested Elkin's resignation. The letters in both cases were curtly short. No reasons were given in either letter. Elkin and Reeder made public statements.

"I had no relation with the investigation touching the indemnity bond. I know of no investigation in which I helped to get information for the governor about the items in the general appropriation bill concerning extra legislative employes."

McQuiston asked if Elkin was not dismissed for political reasons. Beitler said he had no knowledge on that subject. "Reeder was not dismissed because of a conspiracy to defraud the treasury," said Beitler. "I never talked with Wanamaker about the dismissals of Elkin and Reeder.

"Gov. Hastings approved a resolution to reprint the small bulletin. He did not know that it was to assume the size that it did. Robinson did not approve the bill, neither did Jones. I know of no conspiracy in which Robinson, Elkin or Reeder were acting in concert to defraud the state. The letter written by the governor's direction states that Robinson was asked to resign because of ill health."

"Do you know of any unauthorized jobs about that time?" asked Gordon.

"I consider this book a job in a dishonest sense," said Beitler.

"What about the appropriation for the extra legislative employes?"

"The governor vetoed it as a 'job.'"

Beitler showed that Pearson had added three pages to the "Bird" book, and the balance of the increase was Warren's.

Thomas M. Jones of Harrisburg, who succeeded Robinson as superintendent of printing, said that he disapproved the "Bird" book bill. The court would not permit him to give his reason for disapproval.

Gordon Had Fun.

Gordon asked permission to read from the "Bird" book. He said that the purpose was to show how it is padded and to demonstrate that it is a "job." The counsel for the plaintiff objected. The court said that if the book was enlarged by inserting matter not germane to the diseases on poultry, such as scenes on the Juniata river, it is competent evidence to read extracts from. McQuiston said:

"Oh, let them read it. I would rather they would read from another book, the Bible, of which they seem to know little."

"If the Bible were an authority in this case, you would be non-suited," retorted Judge Gordon.

Gordon, by reading extracts, seemed to show that the book is padded. While the title is the "Diseases and Enemies of Poultry," the judge found passages relating to fishing in Florida, hunting, bat killing, forest fires, decrease in the number of wood peckers, forestry, swallow-tailed kites or hawks, boating scenes on the Susquehanna, on the Juniata, the Pennsylvania railroad narrows and about 25 other subjects having apparently no relation to the "Diseases and Enemies of Poultry." The big audience secured much amusement from the reading.

George M. Wanbaugh, a Harrisburg newspaper man, testified to Major Beitler having shown him the "Bird" book. He later sent out the story to papers in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Thomas Bell was recalled and asked about the bill for $12,000 put in by State Printer Ray. He said that Robinson objected to some of the changes and the account was turned over to Deputy Attorney General Reeder. It was later approved by Robinson. He could not remember how many items in the bill Robinson objected to.

Col. Wilbur F. Reeder of Bellefonte, deputy attorney general under Hastings, testified concerning the Ray bill. "I examined it item by item," said he, "and submitted a report to Gov. Hastings. In some instances Robinson checked off items he had objected to. The total reduction made by me was $7,793 35. A settlement was made on the basis of my report."

Col. Reeder was on the stand when court adjourned.

Within 10 Minutes' Walk of 125,000 Splendid-Paying Positions. In the Heart of the World's Greatest Industrial Center.

One-third mile from East Pittsburgh, one-half mile from Braddock, a mile and a half from McKeesport, central to Turtle Creek, East McKeesport, Port Perry, Brinton, Bessemer, North Braddock and Demmler, and handy to Homestead and Duquesne. No other property on earth is so wonderfully situated for the workingman. No other property affords him such unparalleled opportunity for investment or for getting a lot to build a home on.

ADJOINING Westing is situated the mammoth Edgar Thomson plant of the United States Steel Corporation. Directly in front of Westing and almost adjoining are the great Westinghouse interests. On all sides, within easy walking distance, are giant manufactories equally famous, employing army upon army of men; paying them wages they can live on.

Opening Sale Saturday, Oct. 3

But don't wait for the opening day. BUY NOW. Wonderful opportunities like WESTING LOTS never did wait long for any man. They never will. Already hundreds of inquiries have been received asking for ground-floor information. This means that the man who doesn't keep both eyes open is going to get left. But don't get left. Keep in mind that WESTING is not a large plan. There are just 190 lots in it. 190 lots will never begin to satisfy the demand. Go out today or look it over Sunday.

In buying WESTING property you not alone get the lowest prices any property so wonderfully situated was ever sold at, but you save money on another point. You buy direct from the owners. This is a big thing. High salaried agents must be paid big commissions for "talking up" a property and making sales. We employ no agents. WESTING doesn't need any "talking up." You know why you want to live in WESTING the minute you see the property. It sells itself.

WESTINGHOUSE progress is going to pervade WESTING. You know what this means. We are in position to state positively that the Westinghouse Interests will own the adjoining property within a few days. In fact, the deal may have been consummated even before this paper went to press. This will mean City Conveniences, modern improvements; will make every WESTING lot a big money-maker, an investment that will bring many a shrewd working man the equivalent of two to four years' salary by the turning of a hand. You will know that this is true from the fact that we will guarantee WESTING prices to be HALF the figures the adjoining property will go at when it is placed on the market.

At WESTING you will have splendid traction service. The Monongahela and Second Avenue street car lines are within a stone's throw of the property. The great new traction line, Highland Grove cars, already in part operation, will run directly through WESTING when completed. This is guaranteed. There will be a fine school at WESTING. The wonderfully growing population of this vicinity demands immediate educational facilities and a petition for school is now before school board.

NEW MOVE MADE BY COMBINE MEN

Attempt to Secure Control of the Allegheny Committee on Grade Crossings.

M'HENRY PROMISES TROUBLE

Councilman Says He Knows of Some Peculiar Things and Is Not Afraid to Reveal Them—Creating Office as Reward for Campaign Work.

The Wyman majority in Allegheny common council last night adopted, by a vote of 24 to 9, a resolution providing for the addition of eight members to the committee on grade crossings. The measure was introduced by J. R. Henricks, the Wyman leader in the common branch.

Chairman Thomas McHenry of the committee on grade crossings, bitterly opposed the resolution, saying the increase was unnecessary, that a committee of 16 would be unwieldy, and the work submitted to it could not be well handled.

"That is just the reason we want it increased," said Henricks. "It is too easily handled at present."

The grade crossings committee now numbers eight members, four from each branch of councils. The proposed increase is said to be part of the scheme to hold up corporations that has been on foot since the Citizens gained control of the common branch. Some time ago a combine of 22 members of the branch, all elected last February on the ticket with Wyman, was formed. The secret and the purpose of the combine was let out by several members who had been asked to be part of the machine, but who refused to have anything to do with it.

Promises to Make Trouble.

McHenry was very indignant last night, and said:

"This is the most outrageous thing that has been attempted by this council. The increase is unnecessary, but if it is allowed I'll promise you that I shall make some trouble in City hall before long. I have knowledge of some peculiar things that are on foot in common council, and I am not the one that will balk at exposing them the first time anything crooked is attempted."

It is understood that should the resolution become effective by the concurrence of the select branch, the members appointed to make up the increase will be those who are in the combine.

The ordinance providing for the purchase of a law library to be placed in City hall was referred back to the finance committee.

Councilman Robert L. Henderson of the Third ward presented an ordinance asking that the city be relieved from the expense of furnishing the delinquent tax collector with an office, stationery, printing and stamps. The passage of this ordinance would save the city several thousand dollars annually, but it is likely to meet the fate of the ordinance providing for the abolition of the office of delinquent tax collector, which was killed by the Wyman majority in common council last month.

Reward for Campaign Work.

An ordinance creating the office of superintendent of detectives was introduced and referred to committee. It is understood that should this ordinance pass Detective Thomas C. Johnson will get the appointment as a reward for his services to Wyman in the last campaign. The salary proposed is $1,800.

Measures passed finally were:

Ordinances establishing the grades of Arcola street, English alley, Hiawatha, Mansion, Marlboro, Shady and Wagner avenues, Scrubb's line, Robinson road and Winthrope street; changing the grades of Marion and Shady (formerly Geyer) avenues, Home and Westminster streets and Roscoe alley; fixing the width of sidewalks and cartways of Marboro and Madison avenues; opening of Forest street; resolutions authorizing the payment of $90 to Samuel Stratton and $65 to A. Strittmatter, patrolmen, for time lost while injured in the discharge of their duties.

Upon the call of wards the following measures were introduced and referred:

Ordinances providing for an appropriation of $5,000 as Allegheny's share of the cost of an industrial exhibit at the St. Louis exposition, the payment of $2,243 80 to L. E. Malsbey for means furnished to the Municipal Hospital and $1,019 39 to L. A. Thompson & Co. for labor and material furnished in altering a building in the Eighth ward to used for the treatment of patients; prohibiting the running of automobiles in Riverview park.

A resolution was passed under a suspension of the rules requiring the clerks of councils to prepare a list of all ordinances and resolutions fixing money to be paid to the city for franchises by corporations or firms.

TRUSTEES NOW HAVE THE TECHNICAL SCHOOL SITE

Documents Transferring Property Delivered Yesterday.

Power Plant Ordinance.

The Flinn-Magee site for the Carnegie technical school is now in the hands of the trustees of the Carnegie institute. The last step in the acquisition and transfer of the site was taken yesterday, when City Clerk E. W. Hassler sent President W. N. Frew a certified copy of the ordinance transferring the property to the trustees for the use of the school.

This ends all participation by the city in the technical school matter until the institution is erected. Then the city will have a representative on the board of management, according to the terms of the agreement adopted with the ordinance. The trustees are now at liberty to go ahead and have all the plans completed for the buildings. An architect will be first selected to prepare the plans, which will probably require six or eight months. President Frew stated yesterday that no work could be done on the school before next spring.

The trustees have another ordinance before the joint public works committee of councils, asking for the right to erect a power house and switch in Junction hollow to supply the new school. A meeting of the committee has been called for this afternoon to approve the ordinance and to send it to common council next Monday for passage.

SISTERS ARE REUNITED AFTER LONG SEPARATION

After separation of more than 30 years, Mrs. Ellen Barry of Jenny Lind street, McKeesport, and her sister, Mrs. John Leonard of Columbus, O., were reunited yesterday at the home of Mrs. Barry. The sisters had not seen each other since they were very young. Mrs. Barry is a property owner of McKeesport. She and her sister became separated through the latter's marriage, and were not in a position to visit each other until Mrs. Leonard came to McKeesport.

REPUBLICANS SUPPORT FRANCHISE TAX BILL

Citizens Party Managers Pledged to Guard Favored Public Service Corporations.

To remove suspicion from themselves and to cover up the plan to defeat any bona fide attempt to levy a tax upon the franchises of public service corporations the Citizens party managers are accusing in advance the Republican councilmen with plotting to kill any franchise legislation that may be introduced in councils. Evidence of this was the publication of a story yesterday in one of the Bigelow papers that the Republicans intended to kill the franchise tax ordinance and would receive $500,000 for their campaign fund.

M. G. Leslie, one of the Republican leaders in common council, stated yesterday that he would support any franchise tax measure, whether it was the lineal tax bill introduced at the last meeting by W. H. Stevenson or some other ordinance. He said that he believed the other Republican members would do the same thing.

He said the Republicans were not taking this position for campaign effect because they had voted solidly for the other franchise measure passed by common council last winter, which the Citizens have seen fit to shelve in select council until a couple of months ago, when it was taken up and submitted to the city solicitor.

More evidence that the Citizens are working hand in hand with the corporations is the fact that the Citizens in select council have permitted the electric light franchise to be put to sleep in their body. Four or five electric light bills have been in select council since last winter, and the Citizens, although controlling that branch, have not even offered a motion to pass them.

If these ordinances were passed by select council the city would be assured of competition in bidding for the city's electric light contract next year. This contract amounts to $355,000 a year and the contract for four years expires next March. If no other companies are permitted to enter the city, the Allegheny County Light Company, which charges the city $96 per arc light, will have no opposition in getting it again.

MRS. KOUNTZ WAS PUT OUT, SO SHE ENTERED SUIT

Trip Was Spoiled of a Woman Who Figured in a Sensational Local Case.

Mrs. Margaret E. Kountz, who was shot by her husband when the latter killed Contractor John E. Walsh on May 9, made information yesterday against J. H. Newman, who conducts a cleaning establishment in Penn avenue, charging him with trespass before Alderman C. F. Anderson.

Mrs. Kountz, who boards at No. 416 Penn avenue, yesterday afternoon sent a dress to Newman to be cleaned. She ordered it to be done at once. Newman immediately sent the dress to the wash room. In the meantime Mrs. Kountz received a telegram summoning her to Chicago. She went to the store and said she could not wait to have the dress cleaned, as she had to go west at once. It was explained that the dress was being washed, and it would be impossible to give it to her.

She became indignant and upbraided Mr. Newman. The latter ordered her out of his store. She refused to go. Mr. Newman had the porter put her out. Mrs. Kountz then made the information.

Next Week's Plays.

The celebrated magician, Thurston, whose feats are said to be even more mystifying than those performed by the later Herrmann, will head the list of clever vaudeville performers at the Avenue next week. Thurston, who is a nephew of ex-United States Senator Thurston of Nebraska, was educated for the ministry, but took up his present work for amusement. He soon became so proficient that he resolved to adopt it as a profession. There will be fifteen big acts on the Avenue program as usual.

Sam A. Scribner's "Morning Glories," under the direction of the Scribner-Drew Amusement Company, will be the attraction at the Academy all next week, upon which occasion the patrons of that favorite amusement resort will have an opportunity to witness an entertainment that is full of talent, brightness and style, and full of interest.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Boston at Exposition park.
New York at Cincinnati.
Philadelphia at Chicago.
Brooklyn at St. Louis.

The sudden cold spell and the threatened downpour of rain put a damper on the Pittsburgh-Boston ball game and at 2:30 o'clock Manager Clarke decided to call the game off. At that time there was a light fall of rain and the threatening clouds made it look as though a deluge was about to be turned on.

As a farewell the teams will engage in a double-header this afternoon, the first game starting at 2 o'clock. Manager Clarke said yesterday that he will use his two big twirlers today—Leever and Thompson—and it is likely that Pittinger and Malarkey will do the pitching for Buckenberger's team. These games will mark the wind-up of the season between the Pittsburgh and Boston teams, and they will be important, inasmuch as the Pirates need both games in order to cinch the pennant for the season, and will therefore go after them good and hard.

Manager Clarke reported yesterday that Pitcher Eddie Doheny, who has been in bed for three or four days suffering from stomach trouble, has come around all right again, and will likely pitch the opening game against Brooklyn on Saturday. The Pirates' leader is also likely to try out young Moren, the Mt. Washington boy, who has been doing such clever work for the Burgess & Hickey's Mill-vale team. Manager Clarke has heard so much of Moren's pitching ability that he has decided to give the young man a chance, and will put him in one of the games against the Brooklyn team on Monday, when a double-header will be played.

President Dreyfuss left last night for Long Branch to visit his family and will remain in the east for three or four days. Mr. Dreyfuss said yesterday that as yet nothing has been done in the matter of a world's championship series and that nothing will be done until the Pirates have clinched this season's National league pennant. He says there is plenty of time between now and the close of the championship season to arrange the series.

Tim Hurst, the irrepressible little Irishman, who is now a star on President Pulliam's staff, was over at the park yesterday, but did not get a chance to work. Tim will have his hands full for some days, as he will umpire the double-header here today and then jumps to Cincinnati to preside over a series of double-headers between the Reds and Quakers.

Speaking of umpiring, Tim says he finds it much easier now than it was three or four years ago, and attributes the change to business methods of President Pulliam. He says the players have to be careful as to kicking, that the life of an umpire is much easier than in the old days. Fred Clarke was telling yesterday of a run in between Hurst and Moran, the latter catcher, who has a brogue that could be cut with a knife. Moran had kicked on a decision on balls, and Hurst went after him with a great line of talk. At its conclusion Moran looked at Hurst and said: "My mother and father came from Ireland, but I never heard them talk the kind of talk you get through you," and that settled Hurst.

TWO FOR COLTS.

Chief Zimmer's Team Was Easy for Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The locals took both games from Philadelphia today. Errors and Mitchell's wildness gave them the first. The visitors played a nearly perfect game in the second, but were unable to hit Taylor, who received Currie after four runs had been made off him. Eight of Phillips' hits were bunched in the three innings they scored in. Attendance, 1,900. Scores:

LOST ONE, TIED ONE.

The Cardinals Did Not Show Very Strong.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—St. Louis lost the first and tied the second game of a double-header here today. Thatcher had St. Louis blanked up to the ninth inning, when some timely hitting gave St. Louis a run. In the second game Dygert partially threw the game away in the ninth inning, when he threw the ball against the fence, allowing Sheckard to score the tieing run. The game was called on account of darkness. Attendance, 876. Scores:

COLLINS' TEAM PICKED TO DEFEAT PIRATES

Cleveland Owner, Manager and Players Pick Boston to Defeat Clarke's Crew.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Members of the Cleveland club are of the opinion that the Bostons will have the best of the argument when they play the Pittsburghs.

Vice President Somers says: "Collins has a team that is, in my opinion, the strongest in the country. Boston with Pittsburgh it is stronger behind the bat and in the box. In hitting ability the two are evenly matched, although there is a good basis to work upon, as the pitchers in the American league are so much superior to those in the National. Both teams have good outfielders, the Pittsburgh outfield being a trifle faster. Clarke and Dougherty are two great players and so are Beaumont and Chick Stahl. Freeman is better than Sebring. There is not a weak spot in either infield, unless it is at third on the Pittsburgh team, where Leach is handicapped by injuries. At any rate, Collins outguesses him."

Capt. Lajoie says: "That Boston aggregation will have my money with it when it plays Pittsburgh. They talk about the Pirates being fast, but just watch Collins up against Leigh Cziger. There is the boy who will stop them stealing bases. There never was a team that had better pitchers than Boston, and, take it all in all, I do not see where you will get a better team."

Manager Armour says: "I am always looking for a good batting proposition, and when the Bostons meet the Pittsburghs I shall get down all I can upon the American leaguers. There does not look to be a weak spot on the team."

Will Play Homestead Eleven.

FINISHES WERE EXCITING ON WIND-SWEPT TRACK

Nervola Had the Speed and Took the 2:08 Pace from Locanda.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

READVILLE, MASS., Sept. 17.—A southwest gale swept down the stretch at the Readville track today, and while it prevented Dan Patch from attempting to break his record, it did not hinder some excellent racing in the regular events, especially the 2:08 pace. In this race Nervolo was the favorite, although many backed Locanda, when it was found that the son of Allerton would be driven by Charles Golden. Locanda won the first two heats in close finishes, the half in the second being paced in 1:01.

The third proved to be the turning point in the race. Hudson, who was driving Nervolo, took his horse directly in the rear of Locanda's sulky, thus making the latter a wind shield. The two kept in this order until within a sixteenth of a finish, when Nervolo shot by and came out, and being stronger, won the heat by a yard. The next heat was also well fought, but Nervolo still had the speed, and not only won one, but the next and the race. The other events were taken in straight heats. Summary:

THE FAVORITES FARED WELL

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Mud runners were again in demand at Gravesend today. The big fields were greatly reduced by scratches, owners not caring to risk their charges in the mud. The Parkville handicap for 3-year-olds, was won by the favorite, Shotgun, who led from start to finish.

GALE STILL BLOWS AT THE SEASHORE

Atlantic City Gaiety Suspended Until Storm Has Spent Its Force.

LIGHT PLANT IS CRIPPLED

Telephone Systems Are Also in Demoralized Condition as Result of the Fearful Blow—Sons of Veterans Conclude Their Convention—Officers Elected.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 17.

This has been a day of great anxiety for native and visitor alike and many of the timid ones have remained close at home. The wind continues to blow at a fearful rate, and at 6 p. m., when the storm appeared to be at its height, the sound of crashing glass could be heard. At the first evidence of the resumption of the rampage the people ran helter skelter from the promenade and places of amusement and the water front was soon deserted. The noise from the hurricane was augmented by the cries of frightened women and children, and more than one person was knocked down and trampled upon in the mad rush to safety.

The electric light plant is still practically out of commission, though scores of men worked to restore it to normal conditions. The two telephone plants are still badly crippled, many of the wires which were repaired after yesterday's storm having again been carried away. There is constant fear of the destruction of the only wire carrying communication out of this city and the telegraph companies fear they will again be sending their messages to Philadelphia by train.

The storm of today was not of the same dimensions as that of yesterday and there was comparatively little damage. The loop-the-loops and amusements of that character were closed down all day and at times it would have cost one's life to venture on the various piers.

Convention Concluded.

The annual convention of the Sons of Veterans was brought to a close today after an election of officers, as follows: Commander-in-chief, Arthur B. Spink, Providence, R. I.; senior vice commander-in-chief, James B. Adams, Atlantic City; junior vice commander-in-chief, Dr. B. H. McDowell, Racine, Wis.; council-in-chief, H. V. Speelman, Cincinnati; Walter B. Smith, Allentown, and Newton J. McGuire, Indianapolis. The other members of the staff will be elected later. Those chosen were immediately installed by Commander-in-Chief Louis M. Wagner of Philadelphia. Boston gets the next convention. A committee of 13 was appointed to assist in advancing the movement to prevent the further desecration of the American flag by advertising. The Pennsylvania division received permission to organize a new camp in the Pittsburgh district.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Sons of Veterans also brought their convention to a close. Addie M. Waltace of Indianapolis, last year's national president, was presented with a handsome gold watch. Officers were elected as follows: National president, Miss Addie Ardway, Indianapolis; national vice president, Mrs. J. W. Morgan, New York; national council, Miss Mollie Sibley, Massachusetts; Mrs. Nellie Surles, Maryland, and Miss Jennie McBride, New Jersey; chaplain, B. K. Hurst, Canton, O.; treasurer, Mrs. Kate Hardcastle, Philadelphia; inspecting officer, Mrs. Sarah E. Lynn, Minneapolis; mustering and inspecting officer, Elizabeth Freeman, Philadelphia; chief of staff, Pauline Crefelfinger, Indiana; secretary, Miss Mary Durler, Indianapolis; judge advocate general, Mrs. Frank Martin, Indianapolis.

BALTIMORE RUNAWAYS WRITE FROM LIVERPOOL

Boys Supposed to Have Been Killed at Pittsburgh Write to Parents.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—Letters received this morning by the parents of Elmer Avery of 1823 North Broadway, and Charles Lemkuhl of 1832 East North avenue, the two boys who have been missing since August 21, and who were supposed to have been killed near Pittsburgh, state that they are in Liverpool, England. In his letter to his mother young Avery says that they left Baltimore for Washington on August 21 and arrived there about 11 o'clock the same night. They then took a boat for Norfolk, arriving there at 8 o'clock the following morning. After spending Saturday and Sunday in Norfolk they went to Newport News on Sunday night. On Monday morning they boarded a cattle ship bound for Liverpool and worked their way as mess boys. They arrived in Liverpool on Sunday morning, September 6. Avery says that they are very homesick, and that he is sorry that he left home. He says that he did so on the impulse of the moment. From Liverpool they intend to work their way to Germany, and from there take the first steamer home. Young Lemkuhl said in his letter that he had only seen a little bit of the world, but that had satisfied him and he wished that he were home. His father expressed the fear that his father will put him in some institution when he gets back. The boys have been absent from home about 27 days. They disappeared on August 21, and no news was received from them until September 4.

The two boys killed on the Fort Wayne road near Leetsdale a few days ago were definitely identified by relatives at Parkersburg, W. Va. They were at first supposed to be the runaways referred to in the above dispatch.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HOPKINS of Irwin avenue, Allegheny, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on September 29. Thirty invitations in gold lettering have been issued, stating the hour as 8 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins will hold a reception at the old Taggart homestead in Irwin avenue. They will be assisted by their two daughters, Mrs. H. H. McKee and Mrs. W. N. Kelly, the latter of Philadelphia, and two granddaughters, Miss Gladys McKee and Miss Ruth Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins, prior to her marriage, was Miss Sarah A. Taggart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter Taggart, two of the oldest residents of Allegheny. She was born and married in the home where the golden wedding will be celebrated, an old colonial house built in 1828. The Rev. James Rogers, D. D., former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, officiated at the wedding 50 years ago. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins went to housekeeping in Bovle street, later removing to Irwin avenue, where they now reside. The wedding was a very quiet home affair, and ten of the wedding guests will be present on the 50th anniversary. These are John C. Porter, Miss Mary Lockhart, Mrs. George Allison, Mrs. W. L. Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth McAllister, John Taggart, Robert Taggart and Mrs. James M. Brown.

Of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins four are living, D. P. Hopkins, J. A. Hopkins, and the daughters, who will assist at the celebration. The grandchildren are Dr. John H. Kelly, W. N. Kelly, Miss Olive B. Kelly, Miss Ruth Hopkins, Jessie McKee and Miss Ruth Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins has all his life taken a prominent part in the business life of Allegheny. He has also been an earnest church worker, having served for years as elder in the First United Presbyterian church under the late Rev. J. T. Pressley. He still holds that position under the present pastor, the Rev. Thomas Park.

Richmond—Murray.

One of the prettiest of the early fall weddings took place last evening when Miss Ella Marshall Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Richmond of Walnut street, became the wife of James Elwood Murray of Washington, Pa. The bride was gowned in white crepe meteor cut with full court train and with veil caught with a diamond and pearl pendant, Mr. Murray's wedding gift. A shower bouquet of swansonias was carried by the bride. As matron of honor, Mrs. Raymond Evans Cochrane, her sister, wore embroidered white chiffon and carried a cluster of pink roses. Miss Isabell Wilkes was the bridesmaid, and Miss Gladys White the flower girl, the former being gowned in Paris muslin and the latter in pink and white. Pink asters were carried by Miss Wilkes, the little flower girl carrying swansonias. Completing the floral scheme was James man, Alfred Lawrence Murray, and the ushers, John Laughlin Richmond, Carson Campbell and Edward Gordan. The Rev. W. J. McEwan, D. D., pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride. He was assisted by the Rev. Pressly Thompson of the Second United Presbyterian church. Mr. and Mrs. Murray left for an eastern trip, to be gone about three weeks. They will make their home in Washington on their return. The Richmond home, although not large, is of exceedingly pretty appearance, having been remodeled last spring. The porch was enclosed, a cozy corner of palms being formed at one end. The parlor where the wedding ceremony took place is finished in yellow and rose, mantel draperies, curtains and portiers over the large doorways giving the rose tint. In this room were vases of cut flowers and a quantity of greens. The library is done in dark green. White roses decorated this room, with its opalescent lights. Red predominated in the dining room, the lights showing through red shades. White asters appeared in the parlor and pink in the dining room. About 120 guests were present, many of them being from Eastern Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia. At the rehearsal on Tuesday evening, the bride presented her attendants with handsome gold pins. The ushers and best man received souvenir stick pins from the bridegroom.

Collingwood—Wilson.

One of last evening's weddings was that of Miss Mary Louise Collingwood and Robert Sage Wilson. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. William Collingwood of Sewickley, and the bridegroom is an East End man. The Rev. W. J. McEwan, D. D., officiated at the wedding at 7 o'clock, the ceremony taking place at the residence of the bride's brother, Chris W. Collingwood, Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg. White crepe meteor formed the bridal gown, which was made with yoke collar and sleeves of rose point lace. The veil was fastened with two French rose buds of the same, forming the bouquet. Pink roses were carried by the maid of honor, Miss Mary Metcalfe Barr. For her gown, a delicate shade of blue in crepe de chene was the dominant tones of lace. The best man was George James Collingwood, brother of the bride. The ushers included David Milne Watt and Samuel Lloyd Shank.

About 75 guests were in attendance at the wedding. Mrs. W. W. Cotton, a sister of the bride, was present from Portland, Me. The house was prettily decorated in pink and white, roses prevailing. The mantels were banked with ferns and a profusion of smilax and asparagus was used in the various rooms. After November 1 Mr. Wilson and his bride will be at home in Wood street, Wilkinsburg. Their new home will be on a bridal trip. Much interest is attached to the wedding because of the fact that three out of the four attendants will be married within the coming month.

Slater Crawford and Samuel Dunseith, both of Crafton. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a modish gown of white silk crepe made over white taffeta, the customary bridal veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white asters. The maid of honor was gowned in pink silk mousseline over pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink asters tied with long streamers of pink ribbon. ### Annual Union Meeting.

The Woman's Union Missionary association of Allegheny county held its ninth annual meeting yesterday in the First Reformed Presbyterian church, Euclid avenue and Baum street. The association is composed of women of all Protestant denominations, and yesterday's meeting was well attended. The afternoon session was devoted to addresses by home and foreign missionaries. The missionaries working at home are located principally in Homestead, Braddock and Schoenville, working among the Poles, Slavs, Hungarians and Bohemian. Miss Priscilla Young, the corresponding secretary of the association, said the work was prosperous and the results encouraging. The work among the Italians, she said, was very easy, as they wanted people to come among them and teach them. Mrs. A. H. White, one of the workers at Schoenville, said the work there was hard. The women wanted them, but the men are held away from them by liquor agents who infest the district. A church has been erected there and the attendance is regular. Four Bible women have charge of the district.

Joseph Bentley, a missionary who has spent 18 years in China, made a short address.

Great work is being done in the West Indies and China among the lepers. In both places asylums have been built and hundreds of the afflicted are being cared for.

An address on the Indian work in the south was made by Guiseppe Fortunato. "Florida," he said, "is the hardest field to work."

A denominational roll call showed that nearly all of the churches were represented at the meeting yesterday. The attendance was as follows: Baptist, 8; United Presbyterian, 2; Reformed Presbyterian, 2; Presbyterian, 5; Christian, 16; Congregational, 1; Lutheran, 3; Methodist Episcopalian, 7; Cumberland Presbyterian, 1.

FRANZ PLAYED SHERLOCK ACT

McKeesport Detective Tells Jury How He Captured Alleged Robber Gang.

JUVENILE LAW IS ATTACKED

Neel Bowers, Hugh Braclin and W. R. Laughlin, charged by Special County Officer P. J. Morrissey with the bold robbery of the hotel owned by John A. Lewis, Jefferson township, on May 29 last, were on trial in criminal court yesterday, the case going to the jury late in the afternoon. A sealed verdict was returned last night. Reuben Bowers was indicted with them, but cannot be located. His brother, Neel, said he was dead, but Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, Jr., evidently did not believe the story, and forfeited his bond. Reuben left West Elizabeth for a trip down the Ohio river, saying he would return for the trial. Soon after word was received that a man had been killed, and papers found on his body indicated that he was Bowers.

An unusual circumstance savoring of the cleverness of Sherlock Holmes, appeared in the case. Detective Morrissey made the information on information received from Lipton Franz, a McKeesport detective. Franz claims to have broken up the alleged gang. He said that he had suspected the defendants of burglary and determined to capture them. He visited the men, drank with them, and wormed himself into their confidence. That they might not suspect his motive, he testified that he had taken his wife with him on several occasions. He claimed that Neel Bowers had admitted the hotel robbery.

Attorney Rody P. Marshall attempted to discredit the testimony of Franz, and on cross-examination he admitted that he had served time in the workhouse on a charge preferred by Mrs. Franz.

Mrs. Franz said she had gone to West Elizabeth with her husband. They had boarded with the Bowers. She had heard them tell of the Lewis robbery and thought that some colored men had also been concerned in it. She said that husband had been sent to the workhouse through her for disposing of a diamond given to her for safe keeping.

Joseph Kloman, father of John Kloman, yesterday obtained a writ of habeas corpus directed against J. A. Quay, superintendent of the Pennsylvania reform school at Morganza, in proceedings intended for the release of the boy from the institution on the grounds that the juvenile court act, under which he was sentenced, is unconstitutional.

Young Kloman, under the name of Cloman, was convicted of a charge of larceny during the September term, 1902, of the juvenile court, and sentenced by ex-Judge E. H. Stowe. The court at that time was conducted by virtue of the act of May 21, 1901, which has since been declared by the act of this year to be under which the present proceedings are conducted.

The grand jury yesterday indicted William Boulder for the murder of John Marks at Moreland, on June 15. The other true bills returned were:

Larceny, Miche Hevrosh, Hersh Joselvitz, Mary Onkrossky, Louis Samuels, Thomas Leflander, Martha Sinusefeld, Bernard Phillips, James Melter, Beyam Jones, Nickolas Vukelec et al., receiving stolen goods, Thomas Cox, Dora Lafauder, S. H. Elgin, I. Leflander; entering a building, Joseph Rodgers et al., William Howard et al.; fraudently making a written instrument, James Maloney; embezzlement, William C. Davis, N. E. Evans, David Hutcheson, Thomas Ormiston; assault and battery, Pasqualla Ruffaro, Eugene Weigles, Samuel Irwin, Samuel Haber, Harry Hirman, Jacob Kolisa; selling liquor without a license, John Baker, Agatha Arabedenisky; felonious assault and battery, George Dellnoff (2), William Allen et al.; forcible entry, W. G. Lang; misdemeanor, Howard Caldwell, Charles Rardick.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Attorney I. Leonard Aronson, as executor of the estate of William Gerst, filed the will and took out letters testamentary.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Iron City Savings and Loan association vs. Amelia Friend et al, $1,129 78; same vs. James Graham, $816 12; same vs. Duncan MacGregor, $2,447 77; same vs. Fabric Brick Works vs. the Jesse Cornelius Company, $450; R. Castelou vs. Mary Zimmer et al, $101.

Decrees in divorce were granted in the following cases: Florence Williams vs. George A. Williams, desertion; Mary Taylor vs. William Taylor, cruel and barbarous treatment; Stephen Senye vs. Julia Senye, infidelity; Sarah A. Fisher vs. Joseph H. Fisher, desertion; Sarah E. Hamm vs. John Hamm, adjudgment found guilty of murder; Lotta Schmidt vs. George B. H. Schmidt, cruel and barbarous treatment, etc.

The will of Charles Cotteryahn, late of Pittsburgh, after leaving $500 each to decedent's sons, Henry and Lewis, leaves the real estate at No. 2118 Sarah street and Nos. 1909 and 1911 Gilkeson, to his wife, Barbara Ann. The residue of an estate valued at $52,800 is also left to her, with the provision that if she remarry she must be content with a dower interest, and in the event of her death or remarriage the property is to revert to the children, William, Henry, Lewis and Bertha.

FOUR CROOKS ARRESTED.

Characters Well Known to Pittsburgh Police Caught at Toronto, Ont.

TORONTO, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Four pickpockets who are well known to the police of Pittsburgh and Chicago were arrested in Toronto. The prisoners are colored. They are James A. Norris, alias James Dean; Charles H. Cook, alias James Garrett; Grace Norris, alias Minnie Spikes, and Jennie Lawless.

Yesterday A. M. Ross of Ottawa reported to the detective department that he had been robbed in the street by a woman known as Grace Norris, alias Spikes. When the detectives went to arrest her at the house in Peraulay street they found criminals and the other three were taken into custody and are held on a charge of vagrancy. Pittsburgh detectives corralled the four when they went there from Chicago to operate last Christmas.

FAILURE TO REPORT MAKES COUNTY OFFICERS LIABLE

HARRISBURG, Sept. 17.—Attorney General Carson today gave Highway Commissioner Hunter an opinion in which he decides that the commissioner can compel the officials of the various counties to report to him the number of miles of roadway in each township, and that a failure upon the part of the county commissioners and county engineers, "and all other officers of cities, boroughs and townships," will render them liable to proceedings in mandamus.

Master Mechanic H. B. Irvin Dead.

H. B. Irvin, master mechanic of the Pressed Steel Car company, died at his home, No. 41 Sterling street, Allegheny, at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Mr. Irvin was born in Indiana county, Pa., 44 years ago, and about a year ago came to Pittsburgh to take the position of master mechanic with the car company. He was single and is survived by his mother, three brothers and one sister.

Osterling, architect, have awarded the contract for erecting four buildings and enlarging the dining rooms at the state institute for feeble minded, at Polk, to John Osborn of this city. His bid was $153,150.

MARIETTA, O., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Joseph Holdren, owner and proprietor of the Bellevue hotel of this city and one of the leading oil producers of the Ohio valley, was killed while working in the bottom of an elevator shaft today. A huge piece of material fell, striking him on the head. He died in 10 minutes. He leaves a family.

Annual Track Inspection of the Pennsylvania Railroad

The coming annual track inspection of the Pennsylvania railroad will be one if not the most thorough of its kind ever made by the general manager. October 8 and 9 has been selected as the time, and the beginning will be made at Pittsburgh. Instead of having the engineers ride only on their divisions, most of them will make the entire trip from Pittsburgh to Jersey City, so that they will be in a better position to judge the condition of the track on the entire system.

The inspecting party will include General Manager Atterbury and his staff, the general superintendents, superintendents, engineers and supervisors and assistant supervisors. The supervisors on whose divisions the supervisors will accompany the train only over the superintendent's division in which is their section.

The requirements for giving prizes this year will be somewhat above the average. Each supervisor is a candidate for a prize, and the condition of his roadbed determines whether or not he shall receive one of the prizes. The Pennsylvania railroad is one of the few systems of this country that conduct such an inspection. The method has been in practice for nearly 25 years and its value is becoming more and more important every year.

General Manager Atterbury, with his staff, and General Superintendent Creighton, will arrive in Pittsburgh on the evening of October 7, and the following morning the party, riding in the open-end cars, will go from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg. A stop will be made at Altoona for dinner. The next day the party will finish the inspection from Harrisburg to Jersey City.

Veteran to Retire.

S. S. Blair, the veteran superintendent of the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad, with headquarters at Tyrone, is to be retired October 1, when he will have reached the age limit of 70 years. He is one of the best-known railroad men west of the Alleghanies, and his acquaintance on the other side of the mountains is quite extensive. He has held his position since 1873.

Mr. Blair was born in Easton, Pa., in 1833, and entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad at Harrisburg, June 11, 1853. From January, 1860, until June, 1863, he was with the Northern Central in various capacities, and in 1863 he was made superintendent of the Baltimore division of that road.

It is reported that Mr. Blair will be succeeded by C. P. MacArthur, now principal assistant engineer of the Buffalo division of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley. Mr. MacArthur is a nephew of General MacArthur, as well as a nephew of E. M. Prevost, third vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Will Bond Employes.

The Adams Express Company, in conjuction with the Southern and American companies, will hereafter bond its own men instead of allowing them to deal with surety concerns. The express companies, it is said, have met with some trouble by the surety companies refusing to reconsider cases of valued employes whose bonds had been cancelled. The United States and Denver & Rio Grande express companies adopted the bonding system some time ago, and it has proved successful in every respect. The employes of the Adams and American companies in Pittsburgh are delighted with the change, as it will mean the saving of a few dollars every year. The rate of interest will range from $1 50 for drivers to $2 50 for cashiers. If at the end of the year there is a surplus, premiums will be declared in favor of the employes.

Railroad Notes.

The bridge inspection of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie was ended yesterday.

It is said that the general offices of the Ohio Central lines at Toledo will be moved to Columbus.

Work on the Wilmerding passenger station and subway leading to the Westinghouse plant will be completed by October 1, according to orders issued by Pennsylvania railroad officials to have the job finished by that time.

W. C. Loree, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio, returned to the city yesterday, after having spent a week in Baltimore in conference with the wage committee. He would not discuss the outcome of the meetings. The conference will be resumed on Monday, when it is expected that the general officers of the employes' organizations will be present.

NAMED THEIR TICKET.

Maryland Republicans Select Candidates and Indorse Roosevelt.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—The Republican state convention of Maryland met today at Ford's opera house and nominated the following state ticket: For governor, Stevenson A. Williams of Harford county; for attorney general, George Whitelock of Baltimore; for state controller, L. E. P. Dennis of Somerset county.

The platform indorses the administration of President Roosevelt and favors his nomination in 1904; the present Democratic state administration in Maryland is denounced; a reform of the present election laws is demanded and the adoption of a corrupt practice law to prevent bribery in elections is advocated. Legislation in behalf of a sewerage system for Baltimore and to encourage the Chesapeake bay oyster industries is favored.

CONTEST IS PROMISED FOR GILL'S SUCCESSOR

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 17.—A remarkable situation exists in the Sixteenth congressional district where a successor is to be chosen to Congressman J. J. Gill, resigned. # NEW LOW PRICES MADE FOR LOCAL SECURITIES

Fire Proofing, Electric and Crucible Steel Under Heavy Selling Pressure—Weakness in U. S. Steel Dominated the Eastern Market.

By JOHN C. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The local stock market yesterday was one of the most active and the weakest of the year. In a number of stocks the lowest prices ever recorded were made, and in others the lowest of the year. At times the market bordered on demoralization, and owing to the limited buying power, it was remarkable that a panic did not occur. It is almost invariably the case that the Pittsburgh market follows at a distance of about a month or six weeks any pronounced movement in Wall street. The latter had its drastic "house cleaning" early in August. Loanable funds were drawn upon here to take care of margin accounts in New York stocks, and between July 1 and August 10 it has been variously estimated that between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000 was sent from Pittsburgh to New York to protect stock market operations. Experienced traders have been looking for the very thing that has happened in Pittsburgh during the past two days—the liquidation of margin accounts in local stocks. This might have been still further postponed but for the continued weakness in the United States Steel securities. The latter are largely held here and are better distributed than ever before. Yesterday brokers on the exchange divided their attention between the local board and the fluctuations in Steel common in New York, and those fluctuations had an influence upon local security values.

In the early part of the day the heaviest pressure was on National Fire Proofing stocks. The common broke to 16¼ and the preferred to 28⅞, the lowest prices ever quoted. A little more than 3,000 shares changed hands, and the bulk of it represented liquidation; there was very little attempt at short selling, and there was little evidence of support. Both issues closed within a fraction of the lowest.

Westinghouse Electric was also under pressure, but it did not display extreme weakness until the latter part of the afternoon, when the price broke to 76. Evidently some stop loss orders were caught after the decline under 80, and the execution of these caused the further slump. About 2,100 shares were marketed on the way down. The final payment of $25 a share on the subscriptions to the $4,500,000 new stock allotted earlier in the year fall due on Monday. This payment represented $2,250,000, a considerable sum to raise under present money market conditions, and it is thought that some of the selling yesterday represented liquidation by subscribers unable to carry the stock through the depression. The close was at 76⅝ bid. Less than 50 shares Airbrake came out at 142, a decline of 3 points, and the stock closed at that price bid.

The dealings in Crucible Steel reached 2,000 shares. The common stock declined to its previous low price of 77⅛ and the preferred made a new low record by selling at 87 ex-dividend or 1¾ per cent. The close was at the low point of the day. United States Steel was less active, declining to 18⅝, and the preferred to 67, but the weakness, but the principal selling was confined to the Pittsburgh Coal common sold off ⅝, while Pittsburgh Coal common broke to 29. The latter recovered to 29¾ bid at the close. A small lot of the preferred sold at 79, a decline of 2 per cent. Manufacturers Light and Heat broke to 31⅞, but at the close recovered to 32¼ bid. Philadelphia Company was a point lower at 38¾. Harbison-Walker preferred sold at 60, but at the close was offered down to 55. Pittsburgh Brewing sold at 20 early in the session, but at the close was offered at 27, and 25½ was the best bid for quotable lots. The preferred was offered at 44 and closed without bid or sale.

In the banking and trust company group the only change of note was in Commonwealth Trust, which broke 7 per cent to 193, and was offered at that price at the close, the lowest ever quoted. Federal National Bank sold at 144, a decline of 1 per cent. German American Savings and Trust sold at 157 and Iron City Trust at 141, unchanged from the last previous sales. Fidelity Title and Trust was offered at 475 and Guarantee Title and Trust at 188, and both closed without bids. There was nothing doing in the bond list.

In the New York and London markets two securities which may be said to represent the extremes in investments established new low records yesterday. English consols declined to 88⅝ and United States Steel common declined to 18½. The weakness in consols was thought to reflect foreign sentiment on the Turkish situation, which looked more warlike and necessarily foreshadows borrowing by one or both parties to the conflict. At all events such incidents always tend to make bankers a little more cautious. The Bank of England rate of discount remained unchanged at 4 per cent, but the weakness in the foreign markets led to selling of American securities by London. During the first hour in Wall street the market ruled a little firmer, the better feeling being based upon the sharp decline in corn, which was accepted as evidence that in the opinion of Chicago grain speculators no serious damage had yet occurred to the crop. The market was making fair headway, a slow but steady recovery taking place, when renewed weakness occurred in United States Steel, and the decline in this stock, as well as the reaction in the new bonds, exercised a depressing influence upon the entire market. Around 2 o'clock the whole list sold off sharply. Tennessee Coal and Iron, which had opened at 37⅝, broke to 33½. Amalgamated Copper broke from 46 to 44⅜ and Sugar from 113⅜ to 112¾. Readings Atchison, Union Pacific and St. Paul led the decline in the railroad list. There was some irregularity in the final dealings, United States Steel common rallying $1 to 19½, and the railways from ⅛ to 1 per cent, but closing bids were not far from the lowest. The sales reached 463,000 shares.

Domestic money market conditions were not much changed. Here in Pittsburgh the market is as stringent as at any time this year, and prospects for relief are not bright. The New York banks have been losing cash to the interior all week and tomorrow's statement is likely to show a further decrease in reserves. The weekly statements of the three chief foreign banks reflect activity abroad. The Bank of England is steadily strengthening its position, and during the past week contracted loans to the extent of $10,000,000, while its reserve liability rose to 34.30 per cent, as compared with 31.6 per cent last week. The Bank of France showed an increase of $2,316,000 in loans and a loss in cash of $8,225,000, of which latter $2,745,000 was gold. The Imperial Bank of Germany reported a gain of $7,260,000 in cash and an increase of $3,265,000 in loans.

PENNSY SECURES STRIP FOR $30,000

Railroad Is Buying Properties in Twenty-First Ward for More Tracks.

TOWNSHIP ELECTION ORDERED

New Real Estate Company Formed at Wilmerding and Bridgeville — Brokers Home from Long Vacations — Small House Sales.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company by a purchase of a $30,000 property in the Twenty-first ward, has shown its determination to get a much larger area for new track room than was generally supposed. The lot is a strip 20 feet wide on the northeast side of the railroad, extending from near Murtland avenue eastward to Lang avenue. It is a part of the well-known Westinghouse property, and the price paid approximated $43 a front foot. Next to this strip, at the northeast corner of Murtland avenue and the railroad, the Russell property, measuring about 100 feet on the railroad, has been secured. On the opposite corner the Pennsylvania has recently bought from C. A. Wilkins a frontage of 70 feet on the railroad for $2,500. Several months ago it bought the Crooks property, facing 825 feet on the railroad and extending back to Susquehanna street, for $50,000. The Kennedy property, occupied by J. W. Recket property were condemned last year and the railroad is now laying its tracks there. It is reported that the Pennsylvania has a number of rights in the options of other remaining properties between Hamilton avenue and the railroad, and extending from Dallas avenue eastward to the Wilkinsburg line. The recent purchases were made to give more room for the Y curve at the Linden avenue crossing.

Election Ordered in Sewickley District.

One more step in the making of a new township on Sewickley Heights has been accomplished by the ordering of an election on October 16, at which the residents of the townships of Ohio, Leet, Aleppo and Sewickley will vote on the creation of a township to be called New Sewickley. The commissioners appointed have approved the petitions signed by a majority of the property owners, but the matter will yet have to be passed upon by the court of quarter sessions. The new township will be about two miles square, and will include the Country Club holdings and what is known as Johnsville. Under the proposed arrangement the citizens living along the river will will be taxed to pay for improvements on Sewickley Heights, and the Sewickley Heights residents will not be burdened with matters of borough interest. Sewickley, Sewickley Heights and Leetsdale become boroughs, as is now proposed, it will insure for them a better government than is now possible under the township system, where the interests of the two extremities of the township are so widely separated. No decision has been reached yet in the question of the new boroughs, although it is expected that action will be taken soon.

More Real Estate Companies.

Two more new real estate companies have been chartered to deal in suburban property. The Suburban Real Estate Company of Wilmerding is incorporated by George L. Berwick, George Pittfield and M. J. Hoenck. These parties are interested in the ownership of the Grandview cemetery on the Greensburg pike, near Wilmerding, and were also large owners in the South Wilmerding allotment, most of which has been sold. The company was formed to develop a large tract of frontage near Wilmerding.

At Bridgeville, the new Wabash town, the Bridgeville Real Estate Company will operate. The incorporators are U. L. Donaldson, John M. Henry, George M. Alexander, John S. Andrews and Robert H. Cook.

J. F. Good of the firm of Samuel W. Black & Co., who has been absent three months on a European tour, is back at his desk. In spite of the dullness which is everywhere apparent in the real estate market, Mr. Good shares the opinion of many well-posted brokers, based upon his observations over the country, that there will be a brisk market for good properties before Christmas.

Charles M. Warren of the firm of Warren & Gray is expected home today from an extended sojourn in western states.

MILLFEED PRICES TAKE UPWARD TURN

Green Coffee Market Firmer. Prices Easier at Lower Figures---Lima Beans Decline.

Spot prices for millfeed took an upward turn yesterday, arrivals for some time having been limited, demand readily absorbing all offerings. Quotations for middlings went forward $1 a ton, while bran was advanced 50c. Hay is steady as quoted, with no change in selling figures. Oats are unchanged and in good demand. Straw is firm, the higher prices which became effective last Tuesday being well maintained. Shelled corn is steady, while ear hovers about the same range as heretofore, with prices hard to determine, as very little is offered for sale in this market.

Groceries ruled firm, with no price changes yesterday. There has been a decided advance from a quarter to a half in primal markets for green coffee, but quotations for roasted have not been affected. Flour is firm, and reports from the northwest are of damage to wheat in the shock in the that section, which may have some effect on flour prices later on, as it is claimed millers will face a serious difficulty in securing wheat when the time for grinding as the season advances. So far, however, the disposition is to wait and see if the injury from rains is as bad as reported, and there is no advance in flour prices over those of last Monday, when the mills went forward 10c a barrel.

There is some weakness in the potato situation, and prices went off slightly, the decline amounting to 5@10c per bushel. Sweets are unchanged, with demand active. Tomatoes are in plentiful supply, and price per bushel was reduced. Green corn is still in the market in large supply, and very low prices were quoted for occasional lots, holders showing a willingness to dispose of corn as low as 25c a bushel, where they were overstocked. However, there has been no change in nominal quotations since the decline of Wednesday, as the extremely heavy supplies will soon be reduced. Lima beans are a drug on the market, and quotations went to the lowest point of the season, offerings being as low as 5c to 8c a quart.

Fruit prices are unchanged, and the demand for fancy apples is showing considerable improvement. Bananas are still scarce and high, while other tropical fruits are steady as quoted.

Eggs are bringing top figures and are scarce. Country shippers continue to tell of short supplies, the difficulty to find stock for consignment to city markets. The impression is general that higher quotations may be expected. Butter is unchanged, and cheese is steady, though comparatively dull.

Demand for poultry keeps up well, the movement in live being somewhat improved. Quotations are unchanged from those which have been ruling all week.

Only Light Producers and Dusters in the Lower Southwest Yesterday

Developments in the lower southwest oil fields yesterday proved unimportant. The wells completed found a place in the list of light producers or with the dusters. Northeast of the Pine Grove extension in Wetzel county, West Virginia, there has been nothing developed to make the outlook more encouraging. The South Penn Oil Company is still drilling at its test on the J. L. Sole farm, but at 38 feet below the Gordon no sand formation has been encountered. The failure of this well to make a producer gives a black eye to the Southern Oil Company & Greenlee's No. 1, now drilling on the James Morris farm. It is located about 500 feet east and a little south of the J. L. Sole No. 1.

The South Penn company has drilled its test on the Michael Marion farm through the Gordon and will have a 15-barrel pumper.

Southwest of Center Point, Doddridge county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its second test on the Samuel Collins farm and has a 5-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand.

This location was made on the strength of the Center Point Oil Company's second test on the Blair-Ash was a duster, and now the South Penn's No. 2 coming in light makes a bad showing for the development. The South Penn is drilling No. 3 on the Collins farm, and if it proves no better than No. 2 there will be no incentive to look to the southwest for an extension.

In the Hebron district, Tyler county, Root & Duff gave a shot to their second test on the Owens farm in the Big Injun, and it bridged over. It was showing for a 100-barrel a day pumper before it was shot.

In the Burning Springs district in Wirt county, Roberts Bros. have completed a second test on the E. Gibson farm and have a 5-barrel pumper in the second Cow Run sand at a depth of 594 feet.

On the Ohio side in the Wolf Creek district in Washington county A. A. Cameron has completed his No. 6 on the C. H. Breckenridge farm and has a 20-barrel producer. In the same district the E. H. Jennings & Bros. & Silby have drilled in their test on the Jack Baker farm and have a show for a 50-barrel producer. This is the best showing made by any well in the shallow sand territory for some little time.

In the same district Cieler, Rood & Co. have completed No. 7 on the Adoraih Donavan farm and have a duster.

In the Joy district, Marion county, the Midland company has completed No. 108 on the E. R. Dale tract and has a duster.

In the Rhoads Mills district in Washington county the Carter Oil Company has completed a second test on the George Armstrong farm and will have an 8 or 10-barrel pumper in the Berea grit.

J. B. Cheverout & Co. have drilled a test on the Scott-Curry farm into the Big Injun sand and have a show for a 10-barrel pumper.

In the Graysville district the Woodsfield Oil Company has completed No. 5 on the Joseph Cunningham and has a 15-barrel pumper in the Keener sand.

KAISER TRIES TO CHECK SOCIALISM

Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates Must Not Read About It.

EFFORT WILL PROVE FUTILE

Indignation Expressed by Men Affected by War Lord's Latest Indiscretion Likely to Cause Trouble in Army and Be Subversive of Discipline.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—Inspired by the kaiser, the new minister of war, Gen. von Einem, has issued a new general order to the German army which has caused consternation and not a little indignation in the Socialistic camp. In his order the minister forbids any non-commissioned officer or private in the German army to read, distribute or keep in his possession revolutionary or Socialistic literature, to attend Socialistic meetings, to pronounce Socialistic or revolutionary expressions or to give money to any object not approved by the commanding general of the army.

Coming at the present time when the Socialistic feeling in the army is acknowledged to be stronger than ever before, the general order of the minister of war is considered to be extremely unwise and liable to cause no little amount of trouble.

In the several barracks of the city the order was openly criticised by many non-commissioned officers and privates who believe in Socialistic principles. The more conservative, while approving, do not conceal anxiety that it will endanger the discipline of the German army and are inclined to believe that the order will have absolutely no effect. While Socialism in the army is rapidly spreading there have so far been none of those disturbances which have taken place in French regiments and the Socialistic privates have unhesitatingly obeyed orders given them by their superior officers and for this reason the indignation among these men is not without reason.

Several high officers have expressed the fear that the order of the minister of war may cause a serious revolution in the army which the government under present conditions will have no other means to subdue.

YOUNG FILIPINOS TO BE EDUCATED IN AMERICA

One Hundred Will Be Selected and Sent to School in the United States.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Col. C. R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, has received a copy of the bill for the education of Filipinos in the United States, which, it is unofficially reported, has been made a law. It provides for the designation of not more than 100 Filipinos from 16 to 20 years of age to be sent to the United States to complete their education at the expense of the insular government and $72,000 is set aside for this purpose.

The civil government may designate as many as 25 Filipinos without examination. The remainder must undergo competitive examination. The successful candidates will take an oath of allegiance to the United States and will agree that within two months after their return to the Philippines they will enter examination for admission to the service of the civil government.

FOR PRINCIPLE AND NOT PLUNDER

Many New York Democrats Forsake Party and Urge Low to Be Candidate.

INDORSE HIS ADMINISTRATION

Open Letter Says Party Politics Should Be Eliminated from Mayoralty and Condemns Any Effort to Turn Over City Finance to Those in Control.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A number of prominent independent Democrats, including S. Stanwood Menken, Charles S. Fairchild, Wheeler H. Peckham and Everett P. Wheeler, today forwarded to Mayor Low a letter, in which they indorsed him for remaining on the fusion ticket, declaring his administration was such that all who had supported him two years ago should be willing to do so this year, and urging him to accept a renomination. The letter in part is as follows:

"There seems to be no question that substantially the same political bodies which placed you in nomination for mayor two years ago, will offer you a renomination at their conventions this fall. We believe such action to be right and also expedient. From a public standpoint we do not see just how you can decline a renomination. Democrats who joined with other citizens, irrespective of party, to make you mayor of this city, one year prior to an important state election, can with equal confidence, vote to retain you in that office one a year immediately preceding a presidential contest.

"No sane man can now believe that future Democratic successes in state or nation will be made more certain by turning over the finances of this city to the body of men at present in control of Tammany hall. We feel that the present city administration has been truly non-partisan, and that the one great national party, no more than the other, can claim the credit of giving New York the best administration the city has ever had.

"With the city treasury eliminated from party contests the sordid element now in control of the Democratic machine in this city, will fail to the rear and those who care for principles rather than plunder, will come to the front and a true party spirit be revived. This consideration appeals strongly to us but upon the ground of good citizenship alone we urge upon you again to come before the voters of this as an independent, non-partisan candidate for mayor."

SAVED BY BRAVE WOMAN.

Though Knocked Down Repeatedly by Live Wire She Rescues Father and Son.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Mrs. Rosina Mahler, at the risk of her life, today rescued Otto Hess and his son, John, from contact with a live electric light wire. Four times the woman was sent to the ground by the force of the voltage, but each time she bravely returned to her perilous task and finally dragged both Hess and his son away.

Hess and his boy were walking in Seventh avenue when the boy noticed a strand of wire in the street. He picked it up and immediately began to shriek. He was unable to let go and his father sprang to his assistance and found himself in the same dangerous and painful predicament. Their cries of agony attracted Mrs. Mahler. She caught hold of the boy to drag him from the wire. The shock threw her to the ground.

The hands of both Hess and his boy were blackened and burned almost to the bone. FRANK A. PARKER.

Progress on New York Subway.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—A report upon the progress of the subway work was made today by Chief Engineer Parsons. Mr. Parsons said: "Of the construction 75 per cent is completed. Fully three-fourths of the remaining is well in hand. Had it not been for strikes we could have had trains running by Christmas."

JERSEY HONORS FALLEN HEROES

Magnificent Monument Dedicated Yesterday on Battlefield of Antietam.

TRIBUTE BY THE PRESIDENT

Mr. Roosevelt Pictured Bravery of the Veterans of '61 in Glowing Terms. Held Informal Reception in a Pouring Rain at Close of His Address.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SHARPSBURG, MD., Sept. 17.—The magnificent monument erected upon the battlefield of Antietam by the state of New Jersey, in memory of the men from that state who fell in the engagement, was dedicated today. President Roosevelt and Governor Murphy of New Jersey, participated in the ceremonies. The presidential party arrived at 9:10, the president being accompanied by Gov. Murphy and Senators Keane and Dryden and several prominent state and military officials. Nearly 1,000 New Jersey veterans were also at the battlefield.

The monument is in the form of an ornate Corinthian column of granite 40 feet high, surmounted by a heroic figure in bronze of an officer with upraised sword leading his men in charge. The figure is intended as a representation of Capt. Irish, of the Thirteenth New Jersey volunteers, who was the only New Jersey officer killed at Antietam. After the assemblage had been called to order by James O. Smith of the New Jersey monument commission, and an invocation had been pronounced by the Rev. D. R. Fraser, of Newark, Mr. Smith reported to Gov. Murphy the final work of the commission. On behalf of the state of New Jersey, Gov. Murphy accepted the monument.

Side by Side on a Battlefield.

President Roosevelt, as he rose to accept the monument on behalf of the federal government, was accorded an ovation. He spoke as follows:

Gov. Murphy, and you, veterans of New Jersey, and you, men of the Grand Army, and all others here, I greet you.

I thank you of New Jersey for the monument to the troops of New Jersey who fought at Antietam, and on behalf of the nation I accept the gift. We meet today upon one of the great battlefields of the civil war. No other battle of the civil war lasting but one day shows as great a percentage of loss as that which occurred here upon the day on which Antietam was fought. Moreover, in its ultimate effects this battle was of momentous and even decisive importance, for when it had ended and Lee had retreated south of the Potomac, Lincoln forthwith published that immortal paper, the preliminary declaration of emancipation, the paper which decided that the civil war, besides a war for the preservation of the union, should be a war for the emancipation of the slave, so that from that time onward the causes of union and of freedom, of national greatness and individual liberty, were one and the same.

If the issue of Antietam had been other than it was, it is probable that at least two great European powers would have recognized the independence of the confederacy; so that you who fought here 41 years ago have the profound satisfaction of feeling that you played well your part in one of the crises big with the fate of all mankind.

You men of the Grand Army by your victory not only rendered all Americans your debtors forevermore, but you rendered all humanity your debtors. If the union had been dissolved, if this great edifice built with blood and sweat and tears by mighty Washington and his compeers had gone down in wreck and ruin, the result would have been an incalculable calamity, not only for our people—and most of all for those who in such even would have seemingly triumphed—but for all mankind.

Savers of the Nation.

Moreover, every friend of liberty, every believer in self-government, every idealist who wishes to see his ideals take practical shape, wherever he might be in the world knew that the success of all in which he most believed was bound up with the success of the union armies in this great struggle.

We make good by our deeds the deeds which you who wore the blue did in the great years from '61 to '65. You left us also the most splendid example of what brotherhood really means; for in your careers you showed in practical fashion that the only safety in our American life lies in spurning the accidental distinctions which sunder one man from another, and in paying homage to each man only because of what he essentially is: in stripping off the husks of occupation, of position, of accident, until the soul stands forth revealed, and we know the man only because of his worth as a man.

We need the same type of character now that was needed by the men who with Washington first inaugurated the system of free popular government, the system of combined liberty and order here on this continent; that was needed by the men who under Lincoln perpetuated the government which had thus been inaugurated in the days of Washington. The qualities essential to good citizenship and to good public service now are in all their essentials exactly the same as in the days when the first congresses met to provide for the establishment of the union; as in the days, 70 years later, when the congresses met which had to provide for its salvation.

There are many qualities which we need alike in private citizens and in public men, but three above all—three for the lack of which no brilliancy and no genius can atone—and these three are courage, honesty and common sense.

Listened in the Rain.

While President Roosevelt was speaking rain began to fall in torrents. The stand had a canvas cover, but the water went through it as if it were a sieve. When a by-stander offered to hold over him an umbrella, the president waved it aside, remarking:

"I don't care for it. If (indicating the assemblage), they can stand it, I can." Turning to the crowd he said, laughingly: "I don't feel sorry for you veterans. You will not melt. I do feel sorry for the ladies." When he nearly had concluded his address, the president, who expressed concern at the drenching his auditors were getting, said: "I'll not keep you long now." "Oh, go on," cried a voice, "keep it up until tomorrow."

After the benediction had been pronounced, the president held an informal reception in the rain, shaking hands with several hundred ex-soldiers. A drive over part of the battlefield on account of the storm, had to be abandoned. The president, Gov. Murphy and their party returned to their train immediately after the ceremonies.

WOMEN HAVE PRECEDENCE.

Secretary Shaw Issues New Instructions to Custom Officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Secretary Shaw has issued new instructions to officers of customs regarding courtesies to persons from foreign countries. None are to be extended except to foreign ambassadors, ministers, members of their suites, invalids and persons arriving in charge of their dead, or summoned home in haste by news of affliction or disaster or other imperative emergency.

A change, however, is made in the cases of ladies traveling alone, when precedence in the examination of their baggage is authorized. The issuance of passes on revenue cutters is allowed only in very exceptional cases.

ELECTRIC CAR RUNS 106 MILES AN HOUR

Experimenting Company in Germany Attains Remarkably High Speed.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—An electric car ran at the rate of 106 4-5 miles an hour on the Zossen military road yesterday, said to be the highest speed ever attained. The engineers in charge of the experiment expect that 125 miles an hour will be reached.

The experimenting company, which is composed of various electrical companies and banks, organized for this purpose, has just resumed the trials for the third time.

It was found last year, when a speed of 99½ miles was achieved, that the 70-pound rails and ordinarily ballasted roadbed would not stand the strain. Since then the roadbed has been reconstructed with broken ballast and closely set with pine ties, faced with oak, so as to have the springiness of the pine and the hardness of the oak. The new rails are little over 100 pounds. Alterations have also been made in the motor.

JEW BAITER PUNISHED.

Author of Slanderous Pamphlet in Germany Gets Three Months in Jail.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—(Special Cable.)—The anti-semitic movement in Germany has received a setback and the Jew-baiters are surprised with the sentence pronounced on Paul Koch, the noted anti-semitic writer, who yesterday was sent to prison for three months for attacking a religion recognized by the German government.

Mr. Koch had in a pamphlet tried to prove that the Jews in Germany were in the habit of sacrificing their children in their synagogues. Several rabbis in this city made a sharp protest against the publication of the pamphlet and the author was arrested. When his case came up before the court he was forced to admit that he had absolutely no proof or reasonable foundation upon which he could rest his accusation against the Jews. As Mr. Koch declared that he had no intention of appealing, he was taken to the penitentiary immediately from the court room.
